LABOR-INDUSTRY PARLEY ENDS ON NOTE OF HOPE IN SPITE OF FAILURE

No Agreements on Major Points, but Committee to Continue Work Is Set Up and Way Paved for Further Talks.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 — With final speakers announcing that the public would be disappointed at the failure to recommend machinery for minimizing current industrial disputes, President Truman's labor-management conference adjourned last night in basic disagreement on the most important probelms considered in its 26 days of discussion.

The last plenary session ended, however, in an atmosphere of cordial and respectful personal feeling between the management and labor delegates.

With no intent to be facetious, it can be observed that the conference was a social success. Top representatives of unions and industrial organizations got to know each other in the committee work behind closed doors and at informal gatherings. One of the important intangible accomplishments was the spirit of understanding gradually developed in the impersonal arms-length debates. As a result, subsequent conferences will be easier and perhaps more productive of specific recommendations.

All Wage Proposals Rejected.

As expected, the plenary session, like the executive committee and its subcommittee, was unable to agree on a recommendation concerning immediate higher wages. Because of the unanimity rule, only voice votes were required to reject the proposals of President Philip Murray of the CIO that "the framework of collective bargaining should be the imperative need of granting substantial wage increases now"; of President William Green of the AFL that "it is of first and utmost importance that general wage increases be granted immediately," and of President Ira Mosher of the National Association of Manufacturers that the conference "not consider national wage policy nor attempt to define formulas to implement the wage policy announced by the President.".

The plenary session was unable to take action on the split reports of its three most important committees—on collective bargaining, management's right to manage, and representation and jurisdictional disputes. Management and labor members divided as groups, thereby preventing the three-fourths committee majority required before a report could be

UNION STUDIES G.M.C. OFFER TO WORK FOR COMPETITORS

Wilson Proposes Some Strike-Bound Plants Be Reopened to Make Parts for Other Auto Manufacturers.

DETROIT, Dec. 1 (AP)—General Motors Corp. proposes to reopen some of its strike-bound plants to produce parts and accessories for its competitors.

Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors, made the offer last night in a letter to the striking CIO United Auto Workers, which withheld comment pending further study.

Increasing the proposal's importance is the dependence of most other car manufacturers on General Motors for essential parts. An industry spokesman had predicted a virtual shutdown of other automotive firms as a result of the G. M. C. strike.

The union's reaction was watched also in light of its announced strategy to "blockade" General Motors while assisting other producers in a hasty return to peacetime production.

Whether acceptance of the proposal would weaken its strike grip on General Motors to an extent offsetting the advantages it would give competing firms was among the unanswered questions.

Following is the text of Wilson's letter to R. J. Thomas, president of the union:

"My attention has been called to the fact that the production of other manufacturers who are customers of the General Motors parts and accessory divisions will be seriously affected by your strike of our plants which has shut off the flow of material and special parts they require to build cars, trucks and other finished products.

"While we think it was very unfair for your union to single out the General Motors for your 'labor blockade' to enforce your demands on the whole industry, nevertheless it has always been our principle to take care of our

KANSAS CITY MAY BUILD GARAGES TO USE AS DWELLINGS

Non - Profit Organizations Would Put Up 2-Car Units, Convert Them Later.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 1 (AP)—Kansas City civic leaders are considering plans for the construction of two-car garages as the possible answer to the city's critical housing shortage.

The garages, as outlined in the proposal submitted to labor and construction representatives by Mayor John P. Gage yesterday, would be used as human dwellings until permanent homes could be built.

Approved by the representatives, the plan calls for the organization of two non-profit corporations to buy materials and build the garages.

Such structures, according to Mayor Gage, could be mass produced cheaply and would be useful when the emergency has passed.

ARMY, NAVY 'OVER THE HUMP' IN SHIPS TO GET MEN HOME

Services Say They Will Have Sufficient Vessels for Transportation in December.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Senator Robertson (Rep.), Wyoming, told the Senate that the Army and Navy shipping branches have informed him they are virtually "over the hump" in providing shipping space for return of service men and women from Atlantic and Pacific areas.

Representatives of the service branches disclosed, he said yesterday, that in December there would be sufficient ships in Atlantic and Pacific areas "to lift all available men."

"You will note that I use the words 'available men'," he said. "Availability of these men was based on a report of the area commanders in the Pacific and does not necessarily mean the number of men who are eligible for discharge."

JAP ACCUSED OF TORTURING BATAAN SURVIVORS SEIZED

SHANGHAI, Dec. 1 (AP)—Tohoru Miki, a former Japanese officer accused by veterans of the Bataan death march of torturing and mistreating them in Hoten (Mukden) prison camp in Manchuria, has been arrested here after four months' search.

Miki, former executive officer of the camp, was found living as a civilian in Shanghai. He said he came here with his wife after being discharged from the Japanese Army in 1944.

Nolte in Fix on Mr. Fixit's Figures On '$20-a-Day' Expense Accounts

Deputy Comptroller Ray C. Schroeder, who as "Mr. Fixit" formerly gave radio advice to solve the problems of anxious listeners, is spending some anxious moments today trying to find the correct solution to a mathematical problem which has embroiled his boss, Comptroller Louis Nolte, in a City Hall feud.

Nolte has been the recipient of sharp letters and ultimatums from three city officials since he stated Thursday that they had spent an average of $20 daily on a recent trip to New Orleans. He got his figures from Schroeder who divided the expense accounts by four or five, the number of days represented on hotel bills. Nolte suggested that such expense accounts must involve "too many $2 steaks and things."

This brought heated retorts yesterday from President Milton M. Kinsey of the Board of Public Service, Associate City Counselor James V. Frank and Associate City Counselor Forrest G. Ferris Jr., who made the trip on behalf of the city. Kinsey's total for six full days spent away from the city was $95, or an average of $16 daily. Ferris's daily average was $14.30 and Frank's was $10.75. All pointed out that Schroeder's figures failed to take into account days spent in traveling.

Kinsey said that the average established by the Comptroller's office was "an outrageous falsehood" and challenged the statement that he spent any exorbitant sums.

Ferris told Nolte that "you have been unfair to me in putting the matter before the public the way you have."

Frank suggested that Nolte "exercise some discretion in issuing statements which reflect upon the integrity of others." He charged that the statement "you made is untrue, unfair and wholly unjustified."

Nolte, asked for comment, said that he was going to the country for the weekend. "I'll write them a note next week," he said.

REDS PULLING OUT OF IRAN CAPITAL IN SURPRISE MOVE

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 30—(Delayed) (AP)—The Russians began carrying out a surprise evacuation of Tehran last night. The railway station, communications centers and private billets including the military headquarters were completely evacuated.

The governor of Azerbaijan, appointed recently by the central Iranian government, arrived in the provincial capital of Tabriz today from Tehran in a plane put at his disposal by Soviet authorities. The Russians recently turned back Iran troops ordered to the province, scene of an uprising by separatists.

(The United States State Department disclosed yesterday it had sent a diplomatic mission from the embassy at Tehran to Azerbaijan two or three days ago to investigate the trouble there. Two of the attaches were flown to Tabriz and the third left by jeep at the same time.

(A State Department spokesman said the United States was still awaiting a reply from Russia and Great Britain to its proposal that troops of all three countries be withdrawn from Iran by Jan. 1.)

The Iranian Foreign Ministry said the Russian note refusing passage of Iranian troops into trouble spots of northwestern Iran asserted that "fighting and bloodshed would break out" if Iranian troops entered the territory and that the Soviet government would be forced to move in additional soldiers.

The note denied that Russia was intervening in the political or economic affairs of Iran and termed untrue allegations that the Soviet government had given help to Kurds of that region.

A Tass news agency dispatch broadcast by the Soviet radio and recorded in London confirmed the Iranian text and commented that the Russian note stated that the tripartite treaty of 1942 "was not always observed by the Iranian side in its part concerning the maintenance of internal order on Iranian territory."

"Behavior of some representatives of military and gendarmerie detachments by far not always contributed to the establishment of peace and order in the districts to which they went, and last year appropriate representations were made to the Iranian government on this matter," the broadcast said.

POLICE UNIONISTS HIRE COUNSEL, TO SEEK COURT WRIT AGAINST BOARD

Petition for Injunction to Prevent Smashing of Organization Planned in Circuit Court Early Next Week.

A court fight over the controversial police union took shape today, as members of the newly established labor organization employed counsel and prepared to seek an injunction restraining the Board of Police Commissioners from carrying out its announced policy of smashing the union.

The legal firm of Hay and Flanagan, retained by the union, was drawing up an injunction petition for presentation in Circuit Court. The petition will contend that the Police Board, by demanding that union members resign from the labor union, is interfering with rights guaranteed by the state and federal Constitutions.

The injunction will be sought early next week, probably Monday, in a move to forestall the deadline set by the Police Board. The board has announced that members who do not file written notice of their resignation from the union with their superior officers by midnight Wednesday will be subject to disciplinary action.

Talk of Eagleton's Removal.

Meanwhile, there was speculation regarding the possibility Gov. Phil M. Donnelly might remove Board President Mark D. Eagleton. The only commissioner holding that a police union is legal and the rule against unionization is invalid, Eagleton has stuck to this view in the face of the Governor's formal opinion that the union is illegal. Eagleton repeatedly has stated he will not resign.

If the board should dismiss any member of the union, the action will be appealed through a writ of certiorari, union counsel announced.

Patrolmen Richard T. Miller, acting president of the Union; Bernard T. Casserly, acting treasurer, and Paul Goldak have been designated organizers of the union and ordered to stand trial by the board for violating a Police Department rule against unionization. Miller and Casserly admit they did organization work, but support Goldak in his claim there must be some mistake about his case, since he merely signed an application for membership and never did any organizing.

Stemmler to Act for Board.

City Counselor George L. Stemmler, who has issued an opinion that policemen do not have the right to join a union, would represent the board in a court fight.

A rule in the police manual says a member of the department "shall not file, or retain counsel for the defense of, an action at law without first obtaining permission to do so from the Chief of Police with the approval of the board." But union members have not bothered to seek permission of the board to hire lawyers to fight the board.

For violating this rule, a policeman was fired in 1932, but he won reinstatement with back pay after a five-year court fight, the Missouri Supreme Court holding the rule was unreasonable and invalid. Despite this ruling, the

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—A twin-engined A-26 attack bomber has completed a 24,859-mile flight around the earth in 96 hours and 50 minutes flying time.

The War Department announced yesterday that the plane piloted by Col. Joseph R. Holzapple of Peoria, Ill., landed Thursday at National airport here. Holzapple said in a statement that the flight indicated squadrons of new light bombers could be dispatched quickly from the United States to any point in the world.

The A-26 flew westward by way of Hawaii, the Marianas, Okinawa, the Philippines, India, North Africa, the Azores and Bermuda.

Col. Holzapple's sister, Mrs. A. J. Ritter, lives at 2662 Telegraph road, Lemay. He visited her in February 1944.

BIG GAMBLING RING REPORTED USING SCRIP TO BALK HOLDUPS

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Big-time gamblers are so jittery about holdups that they have taken to the use of scrip in denominations of $500, $1000 and $5000 for payoffs, police reported yesterday.

An investigation, police said, disclosed the existence of "scrip notes" to be redeemed for currency by a gambling syndicate which was to have operated in Washington, D. C., Florida winter resorts, and in Albany, Saratoga and Lake George, N. Y.

HESS TO BE TRIED, COURT RULES

76 RUHR STEEL MAGNATES ARRESTED

INDUSTRY CHIEFS SEIZED BY BRITISH FOR QUESTIONING, MAY FACE TRIAL

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

ISERLOHN, Germany, Dec. 1 (AP)—Seventy-six steel magnates representing Ruhr industries worth billions of dollars were arrested at their homes last night in a series of raids by hundreds of British security police and troops.

The raids began at 11 p.m. and were so thorough that only eight of the original list of 84 marked for arrest were not apprehended. Picking them up was only a question of time.

A director of the August Thyssen Steel Works was embarrassed, the British said, when they found him in a bedroom with the blonde 24-year-old daughter of a baron.

No Resistance Met.

Fitz Baum, manager of the Ruhr Gas Utility in Essen, was drinking champagne with his wife and two friends. Rat poison pills were taken from Walter Eichorst, another director of the Thyssen works.

Dr. Karl Lipp, head of the purchasing department of the Hoesch steel combine of Dortmund, was given permission to play a bedtime lullaby on the violin to his son before being taken away.

Most of the industrialists were in bed and all came quietly, police said. The arresting parties operated on information partly supplied by an American intelligence detachment at Duesseldorf.

Senior British intelligence officers said the magnates would be transferred to an internment camp in the British zone where they will be interrogated. Masses of documents relating to the Ruhr industries will be studied with the possibility of charging some of the men in custody with war crimes, the British said.

Names of Leading Figures.

Those arrested included Heinz Gehm, chairman of the Deutsche Edelstahlwerke; Walther Schwede, director of the Reichsvereinigung Stahlwerke, and Friedrich von Beulow and Dr. Edward Hudremont, directors of Krupps.

Others rounded up included Rudolf Siederleben, managing director of Otto Wolff K. G.; Arthur Hennecke, director Mitteldeutsche Stahlwerke and of Friedrich Flick K. G., and Dr. Guenther Henle, director of Kloeknerwerke A. G.

A senior British officer described the raids as part of the application, by the Allied Control Council, of the policy of eradicating German militarism and Nazism.

"The weight of heavy German industry was behind the Nazi party, even before its accession to power," he said, "and the authority and destructive ambition of the party before and during the war years were, to a large extent, derived from the existing strength and ambition of German industry."

Allied Council Bars German Veterans' Organization.

BERLIN, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Allied Control Council, striking at the roots of German militarism, yesterday signed a law prohibiting military training and outlawing war veterans' organizations, parades or military demonstrations for Germans.

The law was one of three signed in a three-hour council session at which Gen. Joseph T. McNarney made his debut as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's successor. He was warmly greeted by Chairman Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery and Lt. Gen. Pierre Joseph Koenig.

The second law dealt with seizure of property of the I. G. Farben trust which already has been effected in the American and French zones. It vested title of the trust in the control council and provided for its dissolution either in reparations or by destruction, and in strict control of those parts retained for German civilian economy.

The third law fixed fines for violation of rationing regulations for gas and electricity throughout Germany.

NUERNBERG, Dec. 1 (AP)—Gaunt-faced Rudolf Hess, childishly self-satisfied at getting the spotlight in the international war crimes trial, laid aside his novel today and amused his fellow Nazi defendants with his tale of faking amnesia before the world.

Hess had Grand Adm. Karl Doenitz and Erich Raeder shaking with laughter before the court session opened when he told them how he pretended loss of memory and partial insanity. All other defendants were absent yesterday when Hess made his sensational confession and most of them were convulsed with laughter when they learned of it for the first time today.

Hess followed the court proceedings closely. Missing for the first time was the novel which he read during the opening days of the hearing.

Hess boasted of his skilled navigation on his mysterious flight to Britain four years ago when questioned in his cell before the trial by Maj. Douglas Kelley, United States Army psychiatrist.

He confirmed reports that he had left a note to Hitler telling him he was going to appeal for peace in the hope of what he called saving civilization from Bolshevism. He told Kelley he wanted to make a direct appeal to Britain's King.

Kelley said that was all Hess had told him. He denied he had told any correspondent that Hess had planned to take King George back to eGrmany.

STOCK AVERAGES CLIMB TO NEW 14-YEAR HIGH

Buying Continues Despite Auto Strike Stalemate and Failure of Labor-Industry Parley.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP) — The New York stock market average price level reached a new 14-year high today on a turnover of 1,280,000 shares when the automobile strike stalemate and ending of the labor-management conference failed to bring out any real selling. Buying was credited to growing belief the wage controversies would be ironed out by the first of the year.

AVERSA, Italy, Dec. 1 (AP)—German Gen. Anton Dostler was shot to death by a firing squad today for ordering the execution of 15 American soldiers captured behind the German lines in Italy in March 1944.

Dostler, the first German general to die for war crimes participation in western Europe, was convicted in October by a United States court-martial, which disregarded his defense plea that in ordering the executions he was carrying out the commands of higher officers.

Shouting "Long live Germany," the 54-year-old infantry general was tied to a post before a squad of American riflemen commanded by Lt. John R. Magnocavallo of Astoria, N. Y. Holding himself stiffly erect, he died without flinching. Two minutes after 12 bullets pierced his chest, he was pronounced dead by Capt. A. N. Liberman of Bangor, Me.

The 15 Americans executed by the Germans were two officers and 13 enlisted men attached to the Office of Strategic Services. They were captured and shot without trial after they had landed behind German lines near La Spezia in a daring raid to blow up a railroad tunnel.

BRITISH EXECUTE SIX U-BOAT MEN

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Germany, Dec. 1 (AP)—Capt. Heinz Eck, Lt. August Hoffman, Naval Surgeon Walter Weissphennig and three of the crew of a German submarine were executed yesterday by a firing squad for the killing of survivors of the British freighter Peleus, torpedoed in the South Atlantic in March 1944. They were sentenced to death by a British military court at Hamburg in mid-October.

TRIBUNAL DECIDES NO MORE MENTAL EXAMINATIONS OF NAZI ARE NEEDED

NUERNBERG, Dec. 1 (AP)—The international military tribunal ruled today that Rudolf Hess must continue to stand trial with 19 other Nazi leaders accused of war crimes. Hess confessed yesterday that he had been faking amnesia.

Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding, announced that no further mental examinations of Adolf Hitler's former deputy were necessary and that he was capable of standing trial.

Hess, who had read novels and paid scant attention to early phases of the trial, yesterday told the court he had simulated loss of memory for "tactical" reasons and announced he would stand responsible for all of his actions.

The black-browed Hess appeared much relieved by his confession and for the first time since the trial began engaged in lively conversation with other prisoners in the box just before the session opened.

Lahousen Cross-Examined.

Defense counsel got their first chance at cross-examination when the court recalled Maj. Gen. Erwin Lahousen, leading German army intelligence officer. Lahousen, in testimony yesterday, placed the blame for mass murder of Polish and Russian prisoners directly on Hitler and the high command's chief of staff, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, one of the 20 German leaders on trial.

Asked if he and other professed anti-Hitler military leaders knew the attitude of Franz von Papen, former German diplomat and one of the defendants, toward the Nazi war policies, Gen. Lahousen replied:

"I recall that Canaris said they were negative." He referred to Adm. Wilhelm Canaris, German spy expert who was described as leader of a secret anti-Hitler military clique until his execution after the unsuccessful 1944 bomb plot against the Fuehrer.

Lahousen, Austrian-born aide to Canaris, said he had heard indirectly that Von Papen, like Canaris, had secretly opposed Hitler's war policies.

Questioned by assistant British prosecutor G. D. Roberts, Lahousen denied knowledge of the murder of 50 Royal Air Force flyers when they were recaptured after escaping from a German prison camp.

Quizzed by Keitel's Lawyer.

Keitel's attorney, Otto Nelte, in a long series of questions, made little effort to dispute Lahousen's damaging testimony of yesterday concerning the high command's war prisoner policy, but sought to gain admissions from the former intelligence officer that he had sabotaged Germany's war effort and was thus a traitor.

To this, the Austrian-born general who entered the German army after Hitler's anschluss in 1938 replied that he "stood for only what my conscience agreed with."

Nelte unsuccessfully tried to gain an admission from Lahousen that Austrian military leaders favored the anschluss by which Austria was taken into the Reich.

The tall, bald Lahousen, who resembles the Hollywood version of a German staff officer, gesticulated vigorously as he declared that Keitel demanded both military and political obedience from the army. Asked if the high command's fundamental attitude was military, he answered:

"It should have been, according to our opinion, but according to Keitel, Nazism came first. I don't know whether he got orders along that line, but certainly he ordered that, above all, our attitude must be National socialist."

Many of the army leaders felt, he added, that "everything was done from a political Nazi viewpoint and not objectively, from a military attitude."

Attacks Weygand Story.

Nelte declared Keitel had denied Lahousen's testimony of yesterday that the high command chief had ordered the assassination in 1940 of French Gen. Maxime Weygand, generalissimo at the time of France's defeat and later

Truman Goes to Army-Navy Game, Takes 5 Disabled Soldiers Along

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 (AP)—A special train carrying President Truman, five disabled soldiers and nearly 200 other guests to the Army-Navy football game arrived in Philadelphia at 11:18 a.m. today.

The President and his guests reached the stadium at 12:03 and went directly to his private box on the 50-yard line on the Army's side for the first half.

The five soldiers accompanying him, all amputation cases, were Albert Belanger, Fitchburg, Mass.; John L. Eisenman, Weymouth, Mass.; Fernand Leclaire, Willimantic, Conn.; Walter Lescysnsky, Wilmington, Del., and Isadore Turansky, Erie, Pa. All were from Walter Reed Army Hospital at Washington. They had written to the President asking for tickets to the game.

NAZISM CAME FIRST IN GERMAN ARMY, GENERAL TESTIFIES

LAHOUSEN SAYS MANY LEADERS THOUGHT POLITICS DICTATED ACTIONS

administrator for Marshal Henri Philippe Petain in North Africa, and demanded written proof from the witness.

"This order was given orally by Canaris as coming from Keitel, but I was present at a conference where Keitel asked me what happened about it," Lahousen replied.

Lahousen said that orders from Keitel to assassinate Weygand and Gen. Henri Giraud, who later became the French leader in North Africa, were never carried out by Canaris, Greek-born head of the German army's counter-intelligence section.

When Keitel's lawyer intimated that the order to brand Russian prisoners was "a terrible misunderstanding," Lahousen said he did not know that such was the case. Speaking of charges of mass executions of Polish prisoners in the Polish campaign, Nelte asked if it wasn't true that "the Wehrmacht had a different standpoint from the S.S and S.A. troops?"

"Yes, at that time, it was true, I believe," Lahousen answered.

Says Nazi Attitude Varied.

Returning to Lahousen's story of the assassination plots against Weygand and Giraud, Nelte asked: "If there was any plan to kill Weygand, how do you explain that he was later brought to Germany and given all military honors? How come that then nothing happened to him?"

Lahousen replied that the Nazi "attitude" varied and "some were highly thought of one moment and found in concentration camps the next"—an answer that Nelte retorted "didn't hold water."

Nelte declared that Otto Abetz, German Ambassador to Vichy, France, had conferred with Giraud after the French general's escape from a German prison and had asked him to return to voluntary imprisonment. Pointing out that Giraud refused, Nelte rhetorically asked if it were not true that Keitel declined to order him seized forcibly.

Taking over the cross-examination, Dr. Fritz Sauter, counsel for former Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, told Lahousen that Von Ribbentrop "in his capacity of foreign minister went to Keitel and pointed out that he—as protector of international rights—objected to the branding of Russian prisoners."

Recalling Lahousen's testimony that Von Ribbentrop had declared in a conference with Hitler that Polish farms must be burned and all Jews killed, Sauter raised a burst of laughter in the crowded courtroom when he asked why such a matter had not been reported to the police.

Retorts Sarcastically.

"Why didn't Hitler make a report?" the Austrian-born general retorted sarcastically.

A dispute between American prosecutors and defense lawyers broke out when counsel for Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering asked if the Nazi leader could question Lahousen personally. Justice Lawrence said that the tribunal would retire to determine whether the accused Nazi as well as his lawyer could cross-examine witnesses.

Chief United States Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson strongly protested, declaring the trial "would be turned into a show" if the defendants themselves conducted the cross-examination.

"The defendants have the right to conduct their own defense, but if they avail themselves of counsel, we submit that they are not entitled to be heard in person," Jackson said.

A few minutes later Justice Lawrence denied Goering's petition to cross-examine witnesses, but said that the accused Nazis have the right to take the stand in their own defense and also could make statements at the end of the trial.

Goering's attorney, Otto Stahmer, asked if it wasn't true that Adm. Canaris had "pleaded for closest co-operation" with Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and had been warned by Goering that "he should not go so far."

"Yes," answered Lahousen, "But I know why. So as to know things."

Stahmer then asked why Lahousen failed to report American landings in North Africa. The general replied: "That was not my affair."

Asked if he had seen storm troopers used as guards for Russian prisoners, Lahousen said, "Yes, I saw the S.A. actually kick Russian prisoners."

Under questioning by the counsel for Hans Fritzsche, deputy propaganda minister, Lahousen said he did not recall an appeal in 1942 to stop killing Russian prisoners which Fritzsche claims he made to Field Marshal Friedrich von Paulus, later captured at Stalingrad.

The court adjourned at 1:37 p.m. (6:37 a.m. St. Louis time) until Monday.

Hess Pleased With Furor.

Hess, patently pleased with the sensation he created when he declared that his amnesia was a fake, had hardly left the courtroom yesterday when he began boasting.

The one-time Nazi glamour boy and deputy to Hitler, who became one of the war's mystery men after he parachuted into Scotland in the early summer of 1941, asserted he had made psychiatrists of four nations "look ridiculous." He appeared to love the spotlight which switched suddenly to him after his announcement.

Maj. Douglas Kelley, San Francisco psychiatrist who had examined Hess, gave this interpretation of the gaunt, defendant's announcement:

"Hess's action was a return to the typical hysterical personality he has constantly manifested. His amnesia was a deliberate simulation.

"Undoubtedly, after years of practice in a purposeful forgetting in England, he is unable to recall certain events of the past, but it is obvious he has been using amnesia as a defense."

Kelley suggested that Hess's outburst may have been inspired by the presence of Justice Jackson, for Hess is believed to be suffering from a "conscious malignity" toward Jackson.

Promises Statement.

Hess's counsel, Gunther von Rohrscheidt, disclosed that Hess had prepared a statement for the court and press to be released today. Von Rohrscheidt also said Hess made it plain that he expects to be executed.

The announcement by Hess followed a half hour of legal battling over whether he should stand trial. A board of psychiatrists had reported that Hess was "not insane" in the strict sense, but that his loss of memory "might interfere with his ability to make his defense."

Hess watched, grinning occasionally, and then, when Justice Lawrence declared that the tribunal would like to hear from the defendant himself, leaped to his feet and read his speech.

Von Rohrscheidt commented that "Hess is a psychopathic case with a tremendous feeling of his own importance, but he's definitely not crazy. His greatest fear seemed to be that he might be declared irresponsible."

Hess Feels "Unburdened."

Hess stalked back to his cell asserting, "I feel unburdened—I feel better," after confessing.

Col. B. C. Andrus, who as head of the security guard is in charge of Hess and the other Nazi overlords, said to him:

"I'm glad you are not going to fake any more."

A British prosecutor commented: "Well, Hess has made it quite unsafe for anybody not to try him. Either Hess is completely haywire and off his rocker, or he is completely recovered. The trial ought to show that."

TRUMAN GOES TO ARMY-NAVY GAME ON SPECIAL TRAIN

President made a surprise visit to car 6 where he shook hands with tse soldiers, all sergeants.

"I'm glad you could come," he told them. "I hope you have a good time. There are blankets for you if you get cold." He said there were 200 blankets for the party at the stadium.

Mrs. Truman, their daughter, Margaret, Fleet Adm. William D. Leahy, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Strickler of Kansas City, Miss Jane Lingo, a classmate of Margaret at George Washington University here, and Miss Nancy Anderson, a daughter of Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, were in the President's party.

As a protective measure for the President, all flights in and out of Southwest airport and within a 10-mile radius of municipal stadium were canceled between noon and 5 p.m. The order, issued by the Civil Aeronautics Authority, affected scheduled flights of American, Eastern, Transcontinental-Western and United Airlines.

AMERY EXECUTION DEC. 19

LONDON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The execution of John Amery, sentenced to death at Old Bailey Court after he pleaded guilty to high treason this week, has been provisionally fixed for Dec. 19.

Amery, son of Leopold Amery, Secretary of State for India in Winston Churchill's cabinet, was a Nazi propaganda broadcaster.

YAMASHITA'S NOD OF HEAD SENT 600 TO DEATH, AID SAYS

Jap Colonel Testifies He Took Gesture as Approval — Acquittal Motion Is Denied.

By DEAN SCHEDLER

MANILA, Dec. 1 (AP)—At least 600 Filipinos were shot without trial after Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita merely nodded noncommittally when asked what disposition should be made of a group of suspected guerrillas, a Japanese colonel testified today.

The officer, Col. Hidee Nishiharu, was called by the prosecution as a rebuttal witness after the United States military tribunal denied a defense motion for an acquittal. The motion was presented at the conclusion of the defense case after Yamashita had defended himself on the stand against charges of responsibility for atrocities in the Philippines.

Nishiharu, who headed the judge advocate general's department of Yamashita's command, said he told Yamashita there was a large number of guerrillas in custody and that a military police officer had said they would be killed. There was no time left for trials for nearly 1000 suspects held by the Japanese, the witness said.

Denied by Yamashita.

Nishiharu told the court he considered Yamashita's nod as approval for turning the prisoners over to the military police.

The 600 then were loaded into trucks, taken to a cemetery and shot without trial, Nishiharu said.

Capt. Manning L. Webster, Pomeroy, O., of the prosecution staff, asked Nishiharu if he recalled the case of Mabel Juricha, an American women who was executed. The colonel denied ever hearing of it, but when Webster asked if he remembered handling case "CIO-12"—Japanese docket number for the Juricha file—Nishiharu said he recalled the case. No further details were elicited.

Yamashita Statement.

Prior to Nishiharu's testimony, a written statement by Yamashita, giving his views on a commander's responsibility, was entered in the record.

Yamashita contended that if the order of a commanding officer made it possible for a subordinate to permit or condone atrocities then the commanding officer should receive criminal punishment. He argued, however, that if a commanding officer took all means possible against atrocities, and a subordinate condoned them at a time and place not known to the commanding officer, the commanding officer should not be held accountable.

"If I could have foreseen these things," he said in reference to the atrocities, "I would have concentrated all my efforts to prevent them."

Dramatically he concluded with a solemn oath:

"I will swear to heaven and earth to the truth of these points."

Dramatic Scene.

Dramatically, in his turn, Chief Prosecutor Maj. Robert Kerr pointed toward a map of the Philippines heavily dotted with red pins indicating the areas of reported atrocities. As Yamashita squirmed around in his chair to look at the chart, lights blazed up to illuminate it, and Kerr said:

"Each red pin represents a major violation of the laws of war by men under your command, according to the testimony in this case and according to the evidence of approximately 60,000 men, women and children.

"Do you still deny that you ever heard of these killings?"

Glumly the grim-faced general responded:

"I never heard nor did I know of these events."

At the end of Kerr's cross-examination, Col. Harry E. Clarke, chief defense counsel, questioned the witness briefly and drew out a story of how Yamashita saved the life of an American airman in the final stage of the battle of Luzon.

This flyer, the defendant testified, was a Capt. Shaw who landed near his headquarters. He was "a fine officer and everyone liked him," Yamashita said. The Japanese were short of food and accommodations, Yamashita related, so he had two of his officers escort the captive back to American lines and later was "most happy" to receive a letted from the Thirty-second Division stating he had arrived safely.

Trial for Beheadings on Mili Ends; Verdict Next Week.

KWAJALEIN, Dec. 1 (AP) — The decision of an American military court as to whether 10 Japanese officers must die for the beheading of five American airmen in the Marshalls probably will be handed down next week.

Trial of the 10 for offenses committed on Mili atoll in February 1944 was completed yesterday on the eighth day, with the prosecution demanding the death penalty and the defense pleading "fair, righteous and impartial consideration."

The prosecution said the Japanese beheaded the Americans in a spirit of revenge without giving them a trial, then tried to conceal the atrocity. A Japanese on the defense counsel pleaded "it becomes extremely difficult for subordinates to oppose their (Japanese) commanders' firm intentions."

NEW MASS GRAVE, SAID TO HOLD 10,000 POLES' BODIES, REPORTED FOUND

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—POLPRESS, Polish news agency, said in a dispatch from Warsaw yesterday that another burial ground for Poles massacred by Germans had been discovered at Swiecie, in the Chelmno district, and that more than 10,000 bodies were believed to be in the grave.

Among the bodies, the dispatch said, were scores of children who appearently had been buried alive.

BERLIN, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Berlin newspaper Deutsche Volkzeiting reported yesterday that Berlin police had uncovered another murder camp where Nazis poisoned more than 450 asylum patients, including 350 children.

The paper said three nurses, formerly employed at the asylum in Saxony, had admitted giving luminal tablets to patients. Some patients who didn't die fast enough were given injections while asleep to hasten death, the report said.

HESS SAYS SIMULATED LOSS OF MEMORY WAS 'TACTICAL'

Fooled Seven Distinguished Scientists and Own Lawyer — Insists He Is Able to Defend Himself.

Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

NUERNBERG, Dec. 1 (By Radio)—In what surely was one of the strangest and most farcical scenes on record, Rudolf Hess confessed to the international military tribunal yesterday that he had feigned amnesia "for tactical reasons."

He said his memory was functioning in excellent order and demanded that he be permitted to remain on trial with his comrades. His only trouble, he declared, was a slight reduction of the faculty of concentration. Hess declared this would not affect his ability to follow the proceedings, to defend himself adequately and to ask and answer questions.

Warning the court that his client believed himself perfectly sane and would resent being excluded from the trial, Dr. Gunther von Rohrscheidt, Hess's attorney, made a lengthy plea for quashing the case against Hess on the ground that loss of memory would make a competent defense impossible.

Hess ended by asserting he had fooled his own lawyer with his pretended loss of memory and that the latter had made his pleading in good faith. After hearing arguments for and against the proposal to quash the proceedings against the former Deputy Fuehrer, Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence asked whether Dr. Rohrscheidt would care to let his client make a statement. The attorney at once agreed, saying it was the wish of Hess himself and the court would be able to estimate the defendant's mental state.

Other Nazis Removed.

Other defendants had been removed from the court, and Hess, who had been sitting alone in the prisoner's pen with six military policemen to guard him, sprang eagerly to his feet and beckoned imperiously for a microphone. Heretofore he had sat mostly erect with his direct gaze fixed on the series of speakers, but he had rarely bothered to put on his earphones to hear translations of what was said about him in English, French and Russian.

In his hand he held a bombshell in the form of a sheet of paper from which he read. The statement, in effect, declared he had been able to fool seven distinguished scientists from five countries who agreed, while unanimously holding him to be sane, that his amnesia was serious enough to hinder his making an adequate defense.

"Mr. President," Hess read, "At the beginning of this afternoon's proceedings, I gave my defense counsel a note that I am of the opinion that these proceedings could be shortened if I could speak my fill. What I have to say is this:

"In order to anticipate any possibility of my being declared incapable of pleading, although I am willing to take part in the rest of the proceedings with the rest of them, I would like to give the tribunal the following declaration, although I originally intended not to make this declaration until a later time:

"My memory is again in order. The reason why I simulated loss of memory was tactical. In fact, it is only that my capacity for concentration is slightly reduced. But in conflict to that, my capacity in following the trial, my capacity to defend myself, to put questions to witnesses or even to answer questions—in these my capacities are not influenced by that.

"I emphasize the fact that I bear full responsibility for everything I have done, signed or have signed as co-signatory.

"My attitude in principle that the tribunal is not competent is not affected by the statement I have just made. Hitherto in my conversations with my official defense counsel, I have maintained my loss of memory.

"He was therefore in good faith when he asserted I had lost my memory."

Lawyer Questions Fitness.

By the Associated Press.

Dr. Rohrscheidt said in the opening arguments that, after talking daily with Hess and reading medical reports, he believed "Hess is not capable of pleading" either guilt or innocence.

He said that Hess himself had maintained that he was fit to plead and wished to continue on trial.

Answering prosecution arguments that Hess had refused medical treatment for amnesia, he said the prisoner's idea was that he was in shape to plead and was afraid that drugs would make him unfit.

United States Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson commented that Hess could recall opposition to medicine and hence his amnesia was selective. Dr. Rohrsmheidt countered that it was he, not Hess, who remembered Hess's past opposition to medicines.

When pleas were taken at the beginning of the trial Hess merely replied "no" when asked to plead guilty or not guilty. Justice Lawrence ordered the remark entered as a plea of "not guilty."

Hess, who has read 12 books during the hearing so far, followed the arguments with interest. He had professed not to recognize his fellow defendants and to have forgotten past events.

Lt. Gen. R. A. Rudenko, chief Russian prosecutor, opened the prosecution arguments with the statement that "experts agree that Hess is sane and can answer for his actions." All prosecutors agree, he added, that "Hess can be tried."

"We consider the experts' opinion sufficient," he said.

The British prosecutor, Sir Maxwell Fyfe, declared that under British law the only question was whether Hess was sane at the time of arraignment and pointed out that all medical reports agreed that he was.

When the British prosecutor read the part of the medical report referring to the fact that Hess knows he is in prison in Neurnberg, the defendant nodded and laughed.

Dr. Rohrscheidt declared that despite all that was said, reports to the court agreed he had "a mental defect" and that he would not be considered fit to plead under German law.

After the hearing, Rohrscheidt confessed himself flabbergasted at his client's action and said it might "quite as well indicate he was completely irresponsible as it might prove he was responsible."

"I don't know what to think."

Back in the quiet of his cell, Hess sighed and said, "I feel better."

When his jailer, Col. B. C. Andrus, remarked that he was glad he was not going to fake amnesia anymore, Hess replied:

600 HOSPITALIZED AFTER RESISTING TRANSFER TO REDS

(Picture in Everyday Magazine)

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 1 (AP)—About 600 German military internees, including 100 who attempted suicide or self-mutilation, were hospitalized today following a day of violence during which the Swedish Government began the extradition of 2700 former German Army soldiers to Soviet territory.

The other 500 were suffering from the effects of a hunger strike, begun a week ago in protest against the order turning the men over to the Russians. Two of the deportees succeeded in taking their own lives, Swedish authorities said.

In two of the four camps from which the Germans were being removed to a waiting Russian ship at Tralleborg, wild scenes were enacted when Swedish soldiers and police tried to halt the internees as the latter cut themselves with knives, razors and bits of glass.

Although most of the 2700 soldiers were Germans, a number of Poles, Lithuanians, Estonians and Latvians who had served in the German army also were being deported.

Swedish officials announced that the Russians had turned down a request that all 2700 be sent to Luebeck, in the British zone. Instead, only a few who fled to Sweden before May 1, 1945, will be sent to the western occupied area, with the rest going to the Soviet zone where they had served as soldiers.

LAG IN DECODING JAP MESSAGES IN WASHINGTON TO BE INVESTIGATED

Just How U.S. Broke Code to Be Carefully Skirted—3 Weeks Before One Note Was Translated.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Pearl Harbor investigators are skirting one of the war's top military secrets—how we broke the Japanese code—in their scrutiny of events preceding the Pearl Harbor attack.

In a painstaking inquiry into "Operation Magic," as the War Department called the code-breaking project, the Senate-House Committee ordered up the work sheets of cryptographers who pieced out the meaning of Japanese military and diplomatic messages.

Committee counsel set about assembling the sheets as the committee took a recess until Monday.

Representative Cooper (Dem.), Tennessee, and Senator Ferguson (Rep.), Michigan, said the objective was to find out how much time was consumed in Washington in decoding and translating the messages to English and getting the information into the hands of the President, chief of staff, Secretary of War and others. They said they wanted to know whether the job might have been speeded and the field commanders provided with more information.

Secret to Remain Secret.

William D. Mitchell and Gerhard Gesell, committee counsel, made it plain the Army and Navy did not want to yield the secret of how the job was done. Cooper and Ferguson told reporters they did not want that information bared, either.

Cooper raised the point in yesterday's hearing that there was nothing in copies of Japanese messages furnished the committee to indicate when they were received in Washington. He noted that more than three weeks elapsed between the date one message was sent by the Japanese and its final decoding and translation in Washington.

22-Day Lag in Decoding.

He pointed out that a long message sent Nov. 24, 1941, by a Japanese agent in Honolulu to Tokyo about the activity of the American fleet in Pearl Harbor was not translated until Dec. 16.

On Dec. 3, 1941, Foreign Minister Togo sent the Japanese agent in Honolulu a message which said:

"In view of present situation, the presence in port of warships, airplane carriers and cruisers is of utmost importance. Hereafter, to the utmost of your ability, let me know day by day. Wire me in each case whether or not there are any observation balloons above Pearl Harbor or if there are any indications that they will be sent up. Also advise me whether or not the warships are provided with anti-mine nets."

The committee's record bore a note that the message was received in Washington, Dec. 23, sixteen days after the attack, and finally translated Dec. 30.

Slow in Reaching Capital.

Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, who headed the Army's intelligence division until January 1942, testified that many of these messages were intercepted by outlying stations which could only take down the coded Japanese and relay it to Washington for processing.

He said that in some cases messages had to go by airmail to Washington after their interception.

Declining to discuss how the final text was obtained by the cryptographers, he told the committee that it was a tough job. As an example, he said that Japanese telegraphic expressions themselves were "a language within a language."

No Special Warnings.

Under questioning by committee counsel and members, Miles asserted that no specific warnings were needed—other than the general war warnings which were sent to field commanders—of an attack on Pearl Harbor.

He said the Hawaiian establishment had been built solely as a defense against any Japanese move. After two messages were sent from Washington to Hawaii Nov. 27 advising that negotiations with Japan seemed ended and hostile action might follow, "I had no doubt," Miles said, that "an immediate and complete alert" had been effected.

At one point when he was being questioned on this view, Miles paused briefly and then observed:

"You gentlemen of Congress appropriated millions of dollars for that fortress. Against whom were you building it?"

Canal "Equally Likely" Target.

Gen. Miles said the Army high command always had considered attacks on Hawaii and the Panama Canal about "equally likely" in case of war with Japan.

That was so "inherent in the situation," he asserted, that he had never thought for a moment before Dec. 7, 1941, that Pearl Harbor's defenders were not fully on the alert.

Miles acknowledged, however, that Hawaii was not mentioned in any of the evaluations and forecasts he prepared as head of military intelligence.

Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, Army commander at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese struck, sat at a nearby table as Miles testified. He leaned forward and listened carefully as Miles related that he had served under four commanding generals in Hawaii and all had always been conscious that Hawaii might be attacked if trouble developed with Japan.

In response to questions from Gesell, Miles said he knew on Dec. 6 that the Japanese consul in Hawaii was destroying his records but did not inform Short.

Navy Code Used by Army.

Such secret information ordinarily was handled by the Navy because its code was regarded as "more secure," he explained, and "we had every reason to believe that any Navy message to Hawaii would be promptly given to the Army."

Miles read to the committee a letter from Lt. Col. Kendall Fielder of the Hawaiian department, dated Sept. 6, 1941, saying co-operation among Army, Navy and Federal Bureau of Investigation "is most complete."

Gesell asked Gen. Miles if he knew that the Navy had "lost track of the Japanese carrier fleet" after Nov. 26. Miles said he had heard that parts of the fleet had disappeared but he didn't know they were carriers.

Miles also told the committee:

He instructed military attaches in Tokyo on Dec. 3, 1941, to destroy their codes.

No warning messages were sent to Hawaii between Nov. 27 and Dec. 7 when Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, dispatched one which was not delivered until three hours after the attack began.

Gen. Miles is to be followed on the stand by V. Adm. Theodore S. Wilkinson, former director of naval intelligence.

MRS. VIOLA ELLIOT

ROBERT EUGENE ELLIOT

Mrs. Viola Elliot Held in Golden, Colo. — Husband Seeks Ex-Wife Here to Tell Her of Boy's Death.

Mrs. Viola Elliot, an expectant mother, is held in jail at Golden, Colo., on a murder charge in the fatal beating last Tuesday of her 3-year-old stepson, Robert Eugene Elliot, whose mother lives in St. Louis.

The father, Leslie Elliot, who formerly lived at 4122 Schiller place, told the Post-Dispatch over long-distance telephone that his former wife, Mrs. Glenda Elliot, mother of the boy, was living near Broadway and Chouteau avenue early this year, but he does not recall the name of the street.

Elliot, an employe of the Denver mint, said his first wife divorced him in the St. Louis Circuit Court July 28, 1942. She obtained custody of Robert and placed him with an aunt at Farmington, Mo. Last January he was turned over to the father, who brought legal action.

"I got him because I was the only one who cared for him," Elliot stated.

He said his first marriage was at Hillsboro, Mo., and he and his wife lived at Festus, where he worked for a shoe firm. He added that he wanted to communicate with his former wife to notify her of their son's death.

The murder charge was filed against Mrs. Viola Elliot, 27 years old, yesterday. Arrangements were made to permit her to attend the funeral of her stepson, but she decided not to go. Police quoted Mrs. Elliot as admitting that she beat Robert frequently, "because he would not mind."

A physician, who was called to the Elliot home in Wheat Ridge, near Golden, Tuesday, found the boy dead. An autopsy showed death was caused by "lacerations of the brain and bodily injuries."

Elliot told reporters he intended to stand by his wife. They have a son, Paul, two years old, and Mrs. Elliot has an 8-year-old son, James Laine, by a previous marriage.

LUTHERANS ASK U.S. TO LET THEM SEND AID TO GERMANS

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 1 (AP)—American Lutherans have applied to Washington for permission to extend relief to the Germans, Dr. S. C. Michelfelder, American representative of the Lutheran world convention, said today.

"It is not a question of advocating a so-called soft peace," Michelfelder asserted in an interview, "but rather granting aid to Germans who were not Nazis, so that they can help themselves."

An organization known as Lutheran Relief, Inc., has already been incorporated in New York, he said, for providing aid to Lutheran churches throughout Europe. Restrictions, however, prevent sending anything to Germany, Finland, Hungary or Austria.

Owen A. Kossman, 5633A South Kingshighway, today was fined $500 by Police Judge Joseph B. Catanzaro on a peace disturbance charge in connection with allegedly molesting a7 -year-old girl in a motion picture theater last Sunday night.

Judge Catanzaro levied the maximum fine after he said he recognized Kossman as a defendant who had been in his court previously on similar charges.

ARMY WILL RELEASE 15,000 MORE DOCTORS

5000 Dentists Affected Also by Modification of Discharge Requirements.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The War Department announced yesterday modification of the discharge requirements for doctors and dentists which it said would release an additional 15,000 physicians and 5000 dentists.

The critical score for doctors and dentists was reduced from 80 to 70, effective immediately. The 70 score for doctors is three points below the new score for officers in other branches of the Army, which became effective today.

The Army also amended the time factor for computing eligibility. Instead of service prior to Pearl Harbor, medical personnel will be eligible for release after 42 months of honorable service. Any doctor or dentist who is 48 years of age is eligible for release. The new standards apply to all Medical Corps officers except certain scarce categories.

For plastic surgeons, eye, ear and nose specialists, orthopedic surgeons and internal medicine specialists, discharge requirement will be 80 points or continuous service since Pearl Habor. A requirement of 70 points or 45 months' service is fixed for gastroenterologists, cardiologists, urologists and other specialists.

The point score for nurses has been cut from 35 to 25 and the age factor from 35 to 30. Nurses will be eligible after two years' service. The Army estimated this would make 12,500 nurses eligible for release in addition to 27,000 who already have been qualified to return to civilian life.

The score for the Medical Administrative Corps has been dropped from 70 to 60, the pre-Pearl Harbor service requirement eliminated and the time of service cut to 42 months. The age requirement remains at 42 years. About 4000 officers are eligible under the new standard.

The score for physio-therapists has been reduced from 40 to 25 and the age requirement from 40 to 30. Two years' service will qualify for discharge. About 500 women officers are affected by these provisions. The score for dietitians was cut from 40 to 30 and the age requirement from 40 to 35.

Sanitary Corps officers henceforth will need 60 instead of 70 points, 42 months of service or 42 years of age for discharge. The Veterinary Corps was cut from 80 to 70, with 42 months' service or 42 years of age qualifying for discharge.

DR. LEO J. WADE RESIGNS POST AT CITY HOSPITAL

Dr. Leo J. Wade announced yesterday that he has submitted his resignation as medical director of City Hospital, a position he has held since January 1942. Dr. Wade said his resignation becomes effective Jan. 1.

In a letter to Dr. F. M. Grogan, hospital commissioner, dated Sept. 22, Dr. Wade pointed out that he agreed to accept the appointment as a wartime duty at the request of the late Mayor William Dee Becker's hospital advisory committee. Since the wartime emergency no longer exists, he said, he is resigning to devote his time to the teaching and practice of medicine.

Dr. Wade, who is assistant professor of clinical medicine at Washington University Medical School, said he intends to open an office in the Beaumont Building, 3720 Washington boulevard, and specialize in internal medicine. Director of Public Welfare Henry S. Caulfield praised Dr. Wade's work as medical director and said no successor to the position had been chosen.

10-Year Term for Killing Woman.

He was charged with having shot and killed Mrs. Melvina Philips, Negro, during an argument over clothing last March 11 in the 2700 block of Chouteau avenue.

EINSTEIN'S VIEWS ON ATOM CONTROL SOUGHT IN INQUIRY

Langmuir Warns Committee Having More Bombs Would Not Protect United States.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Dr. Albert Einstein will be invited to testify before the Senate Atomic Energy Committee, Chairman McMahon (Dem.), Connecticut, said today. The date for his appearance is not set.

Testimony earlier this week disclosed that the famous refugee mathematician wrote President Roosevelt in 1939 informing him of the progress made toward the release of nuclear energy and recommending that American research into the subject be accelerated.

Pitchforks vs. Atomic Bombs.

In four days of continuous hearings the Senators have terrifying descriptions of the hell-from-the-skies that scientists say the United States may expect if the atomic bomb isn't outlawed.

Dr. Irving Langmuir, Nobel prize winner and associate director of research for General Electric, added a little more to the senatorial uneasiness by asserting yesterday it wouldn't be much protection to have twice as many bombs as the other fellow.

First thing the enemy would do would be to blow Washington, Pittsburgh, Detroit and other centers of production and administration off the face of the earth, he predicted.

"Without leaders or production, we would have to go back to the living pattern of colonial days," he said. "And pitchforks are a mighty poor thing with which to fight atomic bombs."

World Security System First.

He foresaw a crisis for mankind in the next 10 to 20 years unless effective machinery is contrived by all the nations to bar military use of the energy resulting from nuclear fission.

We shouldn't give up our bombs and bomb factories until a satisfactory world security system is achieved, he counseled, but then, if necessary, we should be willing to sacrifice all bombs and even all fissionable material (except a small amount for medical research) for the common good.

Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, asked Langmuir what we should do if we thought a satisfactory control system had been achieved, then discovered that "country A" was violating it.

"Go to war, if we had any sense," the scientist answered.

Although the field has been pretty well explored, Langmuir said he considered it probable that forms of atomic energy other than that currently obtained from uranium would be found by the time of the next war—if there is a next war.

Army Opposed Trip to Russia.

Langmuir protested against the extreme secrecy which the Army imposed on the scientists who worked on the bomb project. He said the Army tried to get him to cancel, at the last moment, an airplane trip to Russia last summer, apparently in fear that he might disclose some secret of the bomb. He added that he had a State Department visa, refused to cancel the trip, and had a profitable visit with Russian scientists.

He said he was told also that the passports of eight British physicists who had expected to make the trip from England were canceled just before they were ready to fly to Moscow.

"I also heard the opinion expressed," he said, "that this action must have been taken at the request of the American Government because no one outside of the American Army could be so stupid. . . .

"I believe that these attempts to maintain secrecy resulted in giving to the Russians the very information which the Army most wished to keep from them. Any sensible Russian scientist knowing of these facts would have believed that we were developing an atomic bomb and were keeping it secret from the Russians."

MAN, 85, STRUCK BY BUS TUESDAY, DIES OF INJURIES

William A. Freimuth, 85 years old, 6843 Fyler avenue, died today at City Hospital of injuries suffered Tuesday when he was struck by a Lindenwood bus.

Parks was placed under bond pending an inquest.

BOWLES ACCUSES TEXTILE MILLS IN CLOTHING DELAY

Companies Can Expect a Windfall by Waiting Till Excess Profit Tax Is Ended, He Says.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP).—OPA Administrator Chester Bowles said in a statement yesterday that processors of cotton fabric for clothing have been holding up deliveries until the Office of Price Administration makes a decision about higher prices.

Discussing the clothing shortage, Bowles said:

"A most important factor is the tax situation.

"Companies can look forward to a windfall if they withhold shipments now and release them next year when the excess profits tax is out of the picture.

Referring to converters of cotton fabrics, Bowles said:

"For a long time we were unable to obtain converters' figures which we needed to decide whether they were entitled to increases to make up for the higher cost of milled fabrics.

"We will be able to announce a decision soon, but meanwhile converters have been holding up deliveries of finished material."

He reported that cotton yardage reached a five-year low during the July-September quarter, while the supply of all textiles for civilians ran more than 300,000,000 yards behind the 1944 quarterly average. Shipments this quarter aren't much better, he added.

POLICE UNIONISTS TO SUE FOR WRIT AGAINST BOARD

The man involved in this case, Patrolman Gilbert Kennedy, won the admiration and gratitude of the entire police force by his court fight. It is a practice in the department to make arbitrary deductions from policemen's pay for charitable causes; the contributors are not consulted, and those who object find themselves assigned to undesirable work. Kennedy declined to "contribute" 10 per cent of his pay for unemployment relief during the depression, and filed suit in Circuit Court to enjoin his superiors from forcing him to comply.

Others Allowed to Join.

Members of the police union, chartered as Local 549, AFL American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, contend the board in other cases has recognized the right of department members to join a union.

They point out the board last Nov. 9, in negotiations with a representative of the AFL Carpenters' Union, granted wage increases to two carpenters employed by the department. And at its next meeting, they add, the board has an appointment with a representative of the AFL International Association of Machinists to discuss wage increases for numerous police garage mechanics.

Many of the police union members have announced their intention of defying the board and retaining their membership. Should a majority of the union members remain adamant, the board will be confronted with a ticklish problem, inasmuch as it would be impossible to replace 500 or more veteran policemen with men qualified to do their work. There is a large probationary force, but years are required to train a policeman.

In their fight for the right to organize, members have adopted the motto in the state seal on their police badges: "United We Stand, Divided We Fall." The union will hold meetings at Carpenters' Hall, 1411 North Grand boulevard, at 1, 4 and 7 p.m. Monday to administer the pledge of membership to its members.

CAPT. F. A. JOSTES TO WED

Capt. Frederick A. Jostes, former St. Louis orthopedic surgeon, will marry Miss Barbara Donohoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Donohoe of San Francisco, in San Francisco Tuesday.

Capt. Jostes, U.S.N.R., who is serving in the Naval Medical Corps in San Francisco, headed the Washington University Medical School specialists unit when it was taken into the Navy in 1942. He is former director and chief surgeon of the Missouri State Crippled Children's Service which he helped establish. He was professor of orthopedic surgery at the University of Missouri.

Air Forces 'Wrecked,' Says Eaker; Urges Rebuilding Job Be Rushed

Discharges Have Taken Many Experienced Men — Deputy Commander Here for Talk and Inspections.

The air arm of the Army has been destroyed as a fighting unit by loss of its experienced personnel through discharges, and its leaders must hasten the rebuilding as much as possible, Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, deputy commander of the Army Air Forces, told the Post-Dispatch today.

Gen. Eaker came to St. Louis yesterday from Washington to speak last night before a meeting of the Round Table Forum at the University Club. He also made inspections of Scott Field and the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command at Lake and Waterman avenues, and visited with their respective commanding officers, Col. Neal Creighton and Brig. Gen. Aubrey Hornsby.

"The Army is in the process of dismantling the greatest air force the world has ever known," he said. "The present status of that air force can only be described as 'wrecked.'

We haven't a single squadron of normal fighting efficiency, because of the heavy discharge rate for our experienced men.

"We aren't complaining. The discharge system is the fairest one that could be devised for the men, and naturally those who were in the longest had the most points and were the ones with the most experience. But our present job is to remove the debris left by the wrecking process and get back in shape as soon as we can."

The nation's chief defense against war in the future is adequate preparation to strike the enemy before being attacked, Gen. Eaker said. Such preparation demands better foreign intelligence service than the armed forces now have, he said, and should take the form of a central intelligence agency representing unified armed forces.

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.
LT. GEN. IRA C. EAKER

"The United States cannot permit individual selfishness to destroy the nation," he continued. "The only reason we won the war just ended is that we put national interests first. Now people are permitting their private interests to become dominant. We won the last war at a frightful cost, but this does not mean that if there is another we will win it."

Gen. Eaker criticized the "rule of the country by vociferous minorities," and said a skilled foreign service should be provided through the State Department. The armed forces function when the diplomatic service breaks down, he said, and it is therefore imperative that the United States take a position of leadership in world conferences if another war is to be avoided.

NOVEMBER WEATHER NORMAL BUT WINDY

Lack of Variation in Temperature in Last Three Days Was Strange Feature.

There was more wind than usual during November, but in most other respects the weather was just about normal, Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren said yesterday. One of the stranger features of the month, he pointed out, was the lack of variation in temperature during the last three days.

The average wind velocity was 14.4 miles per hour in November as compared with a normal velocity of 11.8 miles per hour for the month. On Nov. 6, the windiest of the past 30 days, a gale of 45 miles per hour was recorded.

From 6 p.m. Tuesday through 4 p.m. yesterday, the thermometer ranged no higher than 42 and no lower than 35 degrees. For many hours on each of the past three days the temperature remained constant. From 1 a.m. to 11a.m. Wednesday, for example, the thermometer stuck fast at 36 degrees. From 1 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, it roosted at 37 degrees, then dropped back again to 35 degrees from 1 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. yesterday.

Wahlgren described this constancy in temperature as "very unusual" and said it had not occurred in this area in recent years.

The average temperature for the month was 46.4 degrees, or one degree above normal. A high for the month of 80 degrees was recorded Nov. 1 and a low of 20 was registered Thanksgiving day. Thanksgiving was the only day of the month when the thermometer remainder below freezing for a 24-hour period.

Rainfall of 1.68 inches recorded for November was 1.15 inches below normal for the month but it increased precipitation for this year to 48.17 inches so far, making this the wettest year since 1927 when 50.83 inches of rain fell throughout the 12-month period.

There was sunshine 55 per cent of the possible time this November as compared with only 30 per cent for November last year.

ANHEUSER-BUSCH PLAN FOR NEWARK BREWERY

Plant to Cost $16,000,000, Equal One Here in Output, Officer Says.

Anheuser-Busch, Inc., plans to spend $16,000,000 on its first brewery outside St. Louis, to be at Newark, N.J., G. A. H. Mills, secretary of the company, said today.

While the site covering 18½ acres is being prepared for construction, actual plans for building are incomplete, he said. He said eventually the company expects the Newark plant to become as large a producing unit as the one here, now the world's largest brewery.

Acquisition of the site at a price of about $200,000 was previously announced. Anheuser-Busch also owns a large yeast plant at Old Bridge, N.J., acquired several years ago.

PACKING PLANTS UNION VOTES FOR STRIKE BY 20 TO 1

About 35,000 CIO Members Cast Ballots — Action Backs Up Demand for Wage Rise.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—The CIO United Packinghouse Workers today have a mandate of members to call a nation-wide strike, if necessary, to support a 25-cent hourly wage increase demand.

Union members, polled yesterday by the National Labor Relations Board, approved a walkout by better than 20 to 1. Returns were incomplete.

Union officers emphasized the vote did not necessarily mean a strike would be called. Negotiations are in progress here between the union and the "big four" packers—Armour, Swift, Cudahy and Wilson. Smaller packing houses also are involved in the dispute, which affects 100,000 workers.

In eight states, where there were about 42,000 members eligible to vote, the result was 33,355 for a strike, 1611 against.

Final returns in the Chicago-Milwaukee-Northern Indiana area showed the union members sanctioned a work stoppage by 17,938 to 889. There were 22,637 eligible to vote.

Following is the vote elsewhere: Kansas City, 3979 for a strike, 249 against; Omaha, 5822 for, 240 against; Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and Ottumwa, Ia., 3886 for, 150 against; Denver, 1354 for, 27 against; Wichita, Kan., 376 for, 66 against.

Employes of the Armour & Co. plant in East St. Louis voted 1099 to 66 in favor of a strike, Jerome Schaglione, president of local 42 of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers' Union, bargaining unit in the plant, said today.

MOVE TO DISMISS ALDERMANIC CLEAN CAFE COMMITTEE FAILS

Alderman Clara Hempelmann, chairman of the Board of Aldermen's Public Welfare Committee, tried unsuccessfully yesterday to have the special aldermanic restaurant sanitation committee dissolved. Mrs. Hempelmann's committee recommended a bill governing restaurant sanitation for passage last month, but it was referred to the special committee without a vote being taken on the bill.

Alderman Herman Novack told her during argument on her motion to discharge the committee that he was informed the special committee would report out a measure before Christmas. After extended confused discussion of the motion among aldermen, Mrs. Hempelmann withdrew it. She said that if the matter were sent back to her committee, a bill would be drawn "that has teeth."

Prior to the argument on restaurant sanitation, a bill sponsored by Aloys P. Kaufmann was introduced to give city employes holidays on Dec. 24 and Dec. 31, providing extended holiday week ends. One was passed which would authorize the use of sirens on all ambulances, Humane Society ambulances and emergency repair vehicles of street railways and public lighting companies.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULITZER.
April 10, 1907.

By Union-Busting or Court Decision?

The newly formed policemen's union has refused to fold up under the open and avowed union-busting campaign of Gov. Donnelly and a majority of the Police Board.

In answer to the Police Board ultimatum ordering the members of the union to withdraw by midnight next Wednesday or face charges, a meeting of police officers Thursday evening adopted a pledge "neither to resign as members nor to withdraw application for membership." The meeting also pledged support of the three officers singled out by the Police Board for trial as organizers of the union.

The union is considering applying for an injunction to restrain the board from interfering with its organization and, in public defiance of the board, the charter of the new union will be formally presented at a Kiel Auditorium mass meeting Dec. 12.

So the issue is joined. Unfortunately, a lot of unnecessary heat has been generated by the hasty strong-arm tactics of the Governor and the Police Board. These tactics have brought forth, in turn, a renewed determination on the part of the organizers and the police.

A Needless Duel

This duel, we think, could have been avoided by a little patience on the part of the high officials and by their acceptance of the fact that whether the police have the right to form a union is a legal question that should be, and no doubt will be, determined in an orderly way by the courts.

Gov. Donnelly, a lawyer and an able one, has written a brief declaring the formation of a union to be illegal. His view is supported by City Counselor Stemmler. On the other hand, the union organizers consulted legal advisers who assured them that the men have the constitutional right to organize.

Moreover, President Eagleton of the Police Board, also a lawyer, expressed the view, and voted, that the men have the right to organize.

Would it not have been better for Gov. Donnelly to rest confidently on his own arguments, relying on the courts to back him up, rather than to attempt to coerce the men?

In sharply opposing a policemen's union, the Governor has behind him a considerable public sentiment, which fears that evils will follow in the train of unionization. A good many St. Louisans honestly and seriously feel that unionization will impair public confidence in the police and will tempt the police to show favoritism to fellow-unionists in industrial disputes. Some of these opponents remember with misgivings the Boston police strike of a quarter-century ago, despite the fact that the new union is specifically pledged to a no-strike rule.

There is also a widespread feeling that the police force, as a special protector of the public, is, in a very real sense, a military organization like the National Guard or the Army, where the formation of unions would be unthinkable.

Police Working Conditions

The police, however, have their own side of the story. For many years, they have suffered from poor pay and bad working conditions. They get only two days off a month, whereas most employed people would regard it as intolerable not to spend at least every Sunday with their families. Most of the men on the force have even had to buy their own pistols.

The police have been compelled to buy their own uniforms, and it was only Thursday that the Police Board, under pressure of unionization, adopted President Eagleton's suggestion that they be given an allowance not to exceed $100 a year for this purpose. At about the same time and under the same pressure, a bill was introduced in the Legislature to liberalize police pensions. These belated actions only confirm the men's belief that unionization is desirable for them.

There are other conditions in police work from which most occupations are free. A policeman is, of course, subject to call at all times for emergency purposes or for parades. When in pursuit of a criminal, he must continue until his job is done, regardless of how it cuts into his leisure time. He gets no overtime pay, and no compensating time off. But why should he be compelled to go to court on his days off, without being compensated for the time, to testify against people he has arrested?

Not until a short time ago, and only after the newspapers put on a campaign, were the police granted vacations—an annual rest period recognized almost universally as necessary for workers.

The Police Manual denies a man permission to go outside the city limits for more than 10 hours without written approval of the Chief and the board. So in the Motor Age a policeman cannot spend a day in the country on his free time. On his day off, he is charged with the duty, not only of preventing crime, which is quite right, but also with the duty of detecting crime.

Not an Innovation

With all respect for those who regard it as morally or ethically wrong for police to join a union, the men themselves think they have as much right to do so as any other citizens.

In entering the new union—and 550 out of 1871 have freely admitted membership, while many more are said to have applied—policemen forswear the right to strike and pledge themselves to cross picket lines when duty requires them to do so. But because they feel they have been unfairly treated for generations as to working conditions, they want to be able to present their case to the Governor, Police Board and Legislature through an independent agent who cannot be disciplined or dismissed for undertaking to bargain in their behalf.

It is no new or novel thing for police to join unions. According to Roderick MacDonald, union organizer, there are approximately 100 unions enrolling police over the country. About 50 of these are made up entirely of police. There are police unions in Chicago, Chattanooga, Tenn., Augusta, Ga., Tacoma, Wash., Sedalia, Mo., Meridian, Miss., Louisville, Omaha and many other places. While there has been some friction and trouble in a few places, reports from these cities for the most part show that nothing sensational has occurred.

While, of course, police unions are primarily interested in bettering pay and working conditions, many of the reports from other cities are very favorable concerning police efficiency under unionization. Other good results have followed. For example, in Chattanooga, according to MacDonald, "political bosses have begun to refrain from using police as ward-heelers for the first time in history."

For Orderly Procedure

Although the temper of the men indicates strictly the contrary, it may be that the tactics of the Governor and the Police Board will break the union. If so, a body of very bad feeling will have been created between the men and their superiors, and a blow to police morale will have been struck.

If the men stand fast, the Governor and the board will have a bear by the tail, because it will be impossible for them summarily to fire one-third and possibly one-half of the force. If the men have their day in court and it is judicially ruled that they have the right to organize, the present legal position and union-busting tactics of the Governor and the Police Board will have been shown up as a grave error.

We return to our position, which is a very simple one: In view of the conflicting opinions, the question of whether or not the men have the right to organize is a matter for orderly court determination in the old-fashioned American way.

Until the courts can decide the question, the Governor and the Police Board should conduct themselves with patience and forbearance. They should call off the Wednesday ultimatum and other actions which smack of strong-arm coercion.

A CONTEST FOR THE COURTS

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

In Defense of Bank Clerks

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

What a smug, stupid letter you printed from a self-styled "bank official" on compensation paid bank clerks. Quoting an associate, "If we paid them any more they'd just gamble it away," he continues that "recent events seem to bear him out"—a dastardly reflection on the honorable employes of our banks because of the peculations of a few.

No doubt, if properly approached W. L. M. would readily accede to a reduction in his own salary in order to exclude the possibility of his gambling losses.

JOSEPH WERTHEIMER.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

. . . Instead of more poker games, there would be more marriages! Instead of more gambling, there would be more babies!

If an employe does deserve more compensation, W. L. M. implies that he would not give it if the employe spends it unwisely. Who tells the bank executive how to spend his money?

R. S. V. P.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

. . . During my lengthy bank clerk experience, I have noticed the following as a mere few examples of "fair and commensurate" treatment:

Unsupervised clerks spending $75,000 per year according to their own judgment and earning $50 to $65 a month—subsequently boosted to $85 for taking over two men's jobs.

Bank clerks with over 10 years' experience, handling money and meeting the public, paid $90 a month by the generous personnel V. P. who rated them according to ability. (Many were drafted and became officers through exceptional ability.)

This is standard bank treatment, and if bank officers wish to comment, please load your cannon with better ammunition than W. L. M. did.

BULLDOG.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

. . . Does he believe his salary to be fair and commensurate to HIS contribution? If he is an officer in the large bank I have in mind, he need just stroll down Peacock Alley and note the numerous bored vice presidents endeavoring to appear necessary. Such lack of ambition should be concealed behind closed doors, and not exposed openly for public jesting and bantering.

ME TOO.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

. . . If W. L. M. is the big official he would have us believe, he should know that all the new business isn't brought in by officers. A fair percentage comes from employes. I do not intend to smear any officer by pointing out that it isn't the business the clerks bring in that has to be charged to profit and loss. It's the big business, brought in by big officers.

How stupid of Mr. M. to think the business dealings stop once the business is brought in. The steel workers, the automobile mechanics, the bank clerks, these are the men who keep the wheels of industry turning, not the firms' presidents.

ORDINARY BANK CLERK.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

. . . I know of one boy who was with one of the large banks here for over 10 years and received the munificent sum of $99 a month. He was married and had two children. He was also a graduate of the A. I. B.

Bank clerks work eight hours, the same as anyone else. This official, as usual, is just passing the buck.

Crippled Congress

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Thanks for your splendid editorial, "Our Crippled Democracy." A genuine democratic Congress could solve most of our problems in 24 hours, but the present Congress, packed with too many "people's" representatives whose only interest is to serve the privileged groups, will settle nothing in 24 years.

However, the people are to blame, since too many of them will vote for anything under a plug hat, when it shelters neither soul nor brain.

Troop Ships for Japs

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I see by your topnotch editorial, "Our Ally, Japan," that Secretary of State Byrnes finally disclosed our pledge to Japan to transport its troops home. What about getting our own boys home? How come the slowdown in getting war-weary American fighting men home with their loved ones?

Does big business want more troops ready to back up the new British and American imperialism in China and the Far East, just in case those poor peoples take the Four Freedoms too seriously? And what about a Fifth Freedom, the right of American fighting men for a fast trip home?

Help for Hunger

The men and women of good will in this community—those who have been shocked by the callous delay of Congress to fulfill its pledge to help feed a starving world—now have the opportunity to give food directly to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. The Victory Collection of canned goods opens today in St. Louis.

In 2000 local grocery stores, bins have been set up for contributions of tinned foods of all sorts. Collections will be made periodically, and the food turned over directly to UNRRA for transportation abroad. Baby foods, in particular, are desperately needed if children by the thousands in Europe are to have an even chance of surviving this winter.

There is place for direct citizen participation in every phase of war relief. Money may be sent to the Save the Children Federation, One Madison avenue, New York City. Clothes may be given to Allied War Relief, Second Presbyterian Church, St. Louis. While the politicians delay, the people may take matters into their own hands, reminding Congress at last what America stands for.

Let's Build the Temporary Houses

The proposal of the St. Louis Builders' Guild for the construction of 600 emergency row houses is well worth looking into, with a view to getting on with the actual completion of temporary structures within the next few weeks.

The Jefferson Riverfront Memorial tract could not be put to better use for the next five years, nor could suitable areas in undeveloped subdivisions, parks and playgrounds. The community has never hesitated to use land and spend money to honor its soldiers who have been killed. Why should it hesitate to do at least as much to shelter the living soldiers?

Furthermore, there is no point in stopping at 600 temporary houses. Six hundred would take care of only the number of veterans who return in two days' time. Several thousand houses are needed right now, and more thousands may be needed later on.

The Price of Prejudice

A bitter charge has been directed against the governing board of the Missouri Athletic Club by a member of 28 years' standing who asserts that his son, a war veteran who lost a leg in Germany, has been denied club membership because he is a Jew. Here is an example of the deep hurt that comes from prejudice.

Here was a father proudly eager to have his soldier son come into the club to which he had belonged for years. The brutal rejection—on whatever ground it was based—must have hurt like a blow, hurt doubly because it came from supposed friends.

Club officers have declined to comment on the matter. If there has been any misunderstanding, an explanation should be made. It is hard to believe that the 3500 club members will be willing to be party to inflicting such a hurt.

The matter is one for the club to regulate as it sees fit. But for the community, it is a striking illustration of what prejudice may cost in human terms of cruel unkindness and of pain.

Hess Calls Off His Act

At one and the same moment yesterday, the war criminal trials at Nuernberg received a boost and the science of psychiatry, or at least some of its practitioners, suffered a swift kick. That moment came when Rudolf Hess, former Deputy Fuehrer, confessed to the international tribunal that he had been faking amnesia.

That must have been the most embarrassing moment in a lifetime for those doctors, mercifully unnamed in the dispatches, who had elaborately explained the prisoner's mental state as a loss of memory that was at first pretended, but at last became actual as a defense mechanism against the threat of punishment. They spoke learnedly of hysteria and its manifestations, of psychopathic personalities with paranoid tendencies, and solemnly warned that Hess's clouded mentality would interfere with his ability to prepare a defense.

Now Hess has a chance to give an exhibition of rigid mental discipline, by refraining from asking the diagnosticians, "Who's loony now?"

Bread and Public Health

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Bill before Missouri Legislature requiring enrichment of bread and flour merits support, dietitian says; vitamin and iron content, now called for by wartime Federal rule, are declared essential to good nutrition; dairy interests and farmers' group oppose the measure.

From an Address by Dr. Zonja Wallen-Lawrence, Missouri Nutrition Council, at Missouri Home Economics Association Convention, St. Louis

Missouri Senate Bill 130 is "an act to require the enrichment of bread and flour by addition of certain vitamins and minerals." The present compulsory enrichment of bread terminates with the wartime powers of the War Food Administration. There is no Federal regulation requiring enrichment of flour. During the war, flour has been enriched on a voluntary basis.

Eighteen states with a total population of more than 50,000,000 have now passed laws making enrichment of white flour and bread mandatory. To make for uniformity, a model law has been drawn up under the guidance of the National Research Council. It is this model law which is under consideration as Senate Bill 130. The bill is now awaiting a second hearing before the Senate Agriculture Committee, of which Senator H. R. Williams is chairman.

Benefits to All

The bill is essentially a health act. It is well known that preventive medicine has been dramatically effective in stamping out preventable infectious diseases largely because public health measures involve a minimum of effort on the part of those benefited. Enrichment of white flour and bread can be effective in stamping out preventable nutritional deficiencies. The benefits of flour and bread enrichment will be like the benefits from sanitary milk and water supplies. The effect will be immediate and automatic. All who eat bread will benefit.

The American Public Health Association and the Missouri Public Health Association have passed resolutions indorsing the continued enrichment of flour and bread in the postwar era. The American Medical Association in its journal has editorially declared that bread enrichment should be continued after the war by proper state action. The enrichment program so far has received indorsement by every scientific body in this country which has considered it.

Eating Habits Fixed

A few sincere and idealistic scientists have taken the view that we should educate the people to eat whole wheat bread as our forefathers did. But we must face the fact that American people prefer white bread to whole wheat. There is no immediate prospect of success in changing their eating habits. Changes in habits come only through long-pull education. Persons most in need of better-quality bread will not be helped.

Practical scientists and realistic nutritionists support enrichment. In that way, better health will reach all people, rich and poor, educated, uninformed or illiterate.

Dr. R. D. Williams, St. Louis physician, research scientist and member of the Committee on the Nutritional Aspects of Aging of the National Research Council, said: "I attribute in no small measure the improvement in the nutritional status of certain populations in the State of Missouri to the use of enriched flour and bread. I object strenuously to the public health being made a pawn between commercial interests."

Milk Not Enough

Opposition to postwar enrichment of bread and flour in Missouri, as well as elsewhere in the United States, comes from the dairy industry. Senate Bill 130 is actively opposed by the Sanitary Milk Producers of the St. Louis area, which includes Southern Illinois and Missouri. Supporting the dairy industry is the Missouri Farmers' Association. At present, we know of no other organized opposition to enrichment by commercial interests.

Skim milk alone does not bring thiamin, niacin and iron up to the requirements set, not even when 6 per cent milk solids are added to bread. Milk does one thing; enrichment does another. Milk and enrichment supplement each other, but one is not a substitute for the other.

Cost Is Negligible

As Dr. Russell Wilder puts it, "Long preoccupation with the advantages of milk seems to have closed some minds to dietary defects not correctable by milk." Iron deficiency anemia is very prevalent among children and pregnant women. This deficiency cannot be corrected by adding milk to bread.

Enrichment will yield better health for all at little cost. The cost of enriching flour at present prices is approximately 7 cents per hundred pounds. The cost of enriching bread is approximately 4 cents per hundred pound-loaves. The cost of enrichment per person per year is estimated at 18 cents on the average. Better health at low cost conforms with the motto of the State of Missouri: "Let the welfare of the people be the supreme law."

MEMORIAL FOR MR. WHITE

From the Christian Science Monitor.

To those—and their number is legion—whose appreciation and affection for Editor White grow deeper with time, the purposes of the foundation honor his life and work singularly well: to train young journalists upon the "broad and basic fundamentals of the truly educated, integrated man or woman"; to develop "ability for anticipating and interpreting the social significance" of what the journalist must report, rather than merely the skill of communication.

A Trio of Lively Books On Hunting and Fishing

"Tranquillity," "Tranquillity Revisited" and "Tranquillity Regained," by Col. Harold P. Sheldon. (A. S. Barnes & Co., New York.)

Tranquillity Township, peacefully spread over narrow valleys buttressed by the soft gray limestone ledges of the Lower Champlain country of New England, still has abundant game. Its brooks are well supplied with trout. Here Judge Stoval, Capt. McComber, Dr. Buck and their cronies fished and hunted to their hearts' delight.

It was a tranquil region, but life was rich and full of innocent fun. Here Judge Stoval, seeking a little excitement with his new coon dog, Bozo, treed a bear and lost his pants in the ensuing fight. Here, too, Guidance Witherbee made a fool of himself when he relied for protection on the laws of the "speckrum" rather than on a bee veil at the cutting of a wild bee tree.

Col. Sheldon, a former Vermont Game Commissioner, writes three volumes of hunting and fishing stories, mostly about these Yankee friends. When he does add a lively account of a duck hunt in Arkansas or brushes aside the mists of tradition for a yarn of the Deep South for good measure, his humor is even more robust.

When opportune, the author puts into his stories a sagacious word for wildlife conservation. His advice is sugar-coated with virile hilarity, but sound and easy to take.

WALTER LIPPMANN

Gen. Hurley and Mr. Wheeler

BY the time this article is published, the Washington correspondents will probably have found out what happened during the late afternoon or early evening on Monday of this week which caused Gen. Hurley to resign and issue his statement.

At their interview on Monday afternoon he had given Secretary Byrnes the definite impression that he would return to Chungking this week. Yet a few hours later he pulled the trigger which released the blast that accompanied his resignation. The question is what happened to Gen. Hurley after he left Secretary Byrnes on Monday afternoon? There is nothing in his statement which throws any light on that question.

Russian-British Conflict.

While this mystery is being cleared up, we may examine his general criticism of our foreign policy. Like Senator Wheeler, who spoke out the same day, Mr. Hurley believes that we are not pursuing an independent policy in Europe and Asia, but are playing a subordinate and auxiliary role to Britain and Russia.

But they differ considerably as to what we are doing. Though Mr. Hurley's immediate complaint is against the career men who, he alleges, are "endeavoring to support Communism generally as well as specifically in China," he makes the categorical statement that "in diplomacy today we are permitting ourselves to be sucked into a power bloc on the side of colonial imperialism (i.e., British) against Communist imperialism (i. e., Russian)."

Mr. Wheeler on the other hand sees us "appeasing" Russian imperialism, which is rather different from Mr. Hurley's charge that we are being sucked into a British power bloc against Russian imperialism.

Nevertheless, both men feel—however incoherently — that in Eastern Europe, the Middle East, and in Asia, the basic conflict is between the Soviet Union and the British Empire, and that the United States is being drawn into that conflict instead of playing an independent and constructive role of its own.

U. S. As Mediator.

When all discounts have been made for the violence and unfairness with which this criticism is made, there is a residue of truth in it which no one can afford to dismiss easily because he does not like Senator Wheeler's record or Mr. Hurley's performance in China.

It is true—so it has seemed to me ever since I attended the San Francisco conference—that, if I may quote something written last May, "the real issue has been between London and Moscow, and it would be very unfortunate indeed if the United States sacrificed its great influence as the mediator, which President Roosevelt struggled to maintain even in his last days. . . . It is of special importance that we preserve our more detached role in the Anglo-Soviet difficulties, remembering that while they are for the moment focussed on Poland, they extend in a wide arc through the Balkans to the Middle East and Persia."

This was written at a time when the San Francisco conference was in grave danger of breaking up because the chairman of our delegation had drifted into a position where we were becoming the head and front of a world-wide anti-Soviet coalition.

The conference was rescued by the prompt action of President Truman, who, advised of the danger, sent Harry Hopkins to Moscow and Joseph Davies to London and succeeded in placing us once again in the position of conciliator and mediator between the Soviet Union and the other great powers.

Hard Role to Play.

We must admit that this is a difficult position to maintain, that the role of the mediator power is a difficult one to play. But when, as for example, at the London conference, we fall away from this middle position and take the lead as partisans in conflicts which are more directly and vitally British-Soviet than they are American-Soviet conflicts, we dissipate our influence and the whole system of international action becomes stalled.

It becomes stalled because in fact the United States has influence, but not power in Eastern Europe, in the Balkans, in the Middle East and in Southern Asia. Power is in the hands either of the Russians or of the British, and if we are to exercise influence under these conditions, it can only be as the mediator in these conflicts, not as partisan and underwriter of the interests or the claims of either of the two empires.

I do not, of course, sympathize at all with Senator Wheeler's fierce animosity against our great Allies, and I have no doubt that just such speeches as his make it infinitely more difficult for the United States to cure the very errors of policy which at bottom he is objecting to.

If we are not to be whipsawed between Russian and British imperialism, if we are to pursue an independent course which is that of conciliation, mediation and pacification, we cannot promote the policy by Senator Wheeler's violent hatred of virtually all foreign governments.

DOROTHY THOMPSON

Our Starry Banner Droops

IN resigning as ambassador to China, Gen. Hurley has blurted out at least a fraction of the truth and has opened one small window, in one part of the world, on American foreign policy. He could, of course, have extended his charges to include the Middle East as well as China, and Europe as well as Asia.

The United States of America, whose leading and even decisive role in the war was universally regarded by the peoples, and the small nations, as the guarantor of liberty, justice and fair play, has sunk to the most ignominious role of yes-man to the policies of other powers.

Decay of Leadership.

There is no precedent for it, as far as I can discover, in history. With overwhelming and absolute superiority of military power, enjoying the confidence and faith of the suffering millions of this devastated globe, the center of the world's yearnings and aspirations has abdicated everywhere to nineteenth century imperialism on one side and to the new Soviet imperialism on the other.

And Gen. Hurley, impulsive, perhaps indiscreet, revealed one of the causes: the scheming ambitions and predilections of certain men in the State Department—and, he might have added, in the other departments as well—who might better be attached to the services of other countries which they could serve with less division of loyalty and more intellectual honesty.

The decay of American leadership has come, first, because for reasons of wartime policy, the "necessary unity of the big three," America abandoned step by step all the principles with which we entered the war—namely those of the Atlantic Charter.

Two Allies Betrayed.

In Europe we collaborated at the betrayal of two of our allies: Poland and Yugoslavia. In both cases, men who fought with us, under our directives, were cynically overthrown. In one case, they were even kidnaped and transplanted to Russian soil, there to be tried as traitors before courts whose procedures we would never (never? it is a dangerous word) recognize as legitimate for ourselves.

In Yugoslavia, a despot maintains himself with a private army and a secret police modeled on Hitler's own, against a terrorized, yet overwhelmingly hostile, population, and we accept the outcome of a plebiscite which is exactly as "free" as Hitler's were.

Both states have, as their rulers, men who have been for years Soviet agents—like Birya, who leads the "uprising" in Persian Azerbaijan, under the protection of the Russian armies.

In China, as Gen. Hurley at last reveals, we play both the game of colonial imperialists and the imperialist Communists, and our own ranks of political and military advisers are split into factions. As Poland was looted, not only by her enemies but her allies, who then "compensated" her by turning the Polish marauders loose on German looting grounds, to smash also the Potsdam agreement, so Manchuria is now looted by the same ally—and the news about the wasteland left there by the Russian armies carrying off every scrap of industrial equipment and even household goods—is buried in a small dispatch on the inside pages of newspapers.

In the Middle East, the United States, alone equipped to bring some relief and hope to those impoverished, disease-ridden peoples, is a second string on the British bow.

Appeasement and Arms.

Nowhere do we uphold our own starry banner, on our own great motto, "Liberty and justice for all." Other great powers break the strength of the weak; we alone, break their hearts by betraying their trust.

But why say "we?" Who are "we?" Is it you? Is it I? Or is it, in Whitman's excoriating words, "The lice of politics, the planners of sly involutions for their own preferment?"

A terror grips this great nation. Let anyone speak up; let him try, without comment, to state the facts, and he is drowned in organized cries of "warmonger." If he criticizes colonial imperialism, he is called a Soviet agent; if he calls Soviet expansionism by its true name, he is an "American imperialist." What is America? A colony? A Soviet satellite?

Must all mouths be shut from now on, against injustice and even crime, lest the peace of the powers be endangered? Shall our peace be secured by lies, by skeletons in every cupboard, by shameful secrets that must not be revealed, by appeasements—plus an armaments' race?

Peace is not the mere absence of war. It is a positive condition of justice. It is the sister of charity and mercy. It is the offspring of honesty and truth.

It is the triumph of principle.

RUSSIA TO HOLD MANCHURIA FOR CHIANG TILL JAN. 3

Chungking Statement Says Date Will Give Nationalists Time to Move in.

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Dec. 1 (AP)—Russia has agreed to delay withdrawal of Soviet forces from Manchuria until Jan. 3, the Chinese government announced today.

The agreement will enable Chinese government personnel to take over the administration of Manchuria and will permit Chinese government troops to move in before the Soviet withdrawal is completed, the announcement stated.

The Russians had been scheduled to withdraw Dec. 3, but Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek feared that Chinese Communists in Manchuria would assume control if Soviet forces were evacuated that soon. Central government troops have not yet been able to penetrate the territory in controlling strength.

Chinese government troops now are driving toward Mukden. Dispatches reported the nationalists advancing along the Peiping-Mukden railroad have reached a point 20 miles from Tahushan, 65 miles west of Mukden. They have not yet come in contact with Chinese Communist forces reported to have dug in near Tahushan.

The dispatches reported alleged representatives of several Communist puppet forces approached nationalist headquarters at Shinhsien with offers of surrender.

A semi- official nationalist dispatch charged that some 200,000 Communist troops are preparing a four-pronged drive aimed at placing the strategic maritime province of Shantung entirely under Chinese Communist control. The dispatch said Communist forces destroyed a sizable stretch of the Tientsin-Pukow railroad north of the junction city of Hsuchow as a preparatory move in the drive.

Official Chinese sources continued silent on reports that Russia had demanded joint control of Manchurian mining, power and other enterprises in return for handing the area over to Chiang's forces.

Unofficially, some sources said that even if strings were attached, the agreement would be preferable to seeing all of Manchuria come under domination of the Chinese Communists.

The agreement also is regarded here as making easier the task of Gen. George C. Marshall, new United States envoy to China.

Press reports here alleged that 20,000 Manchurian troops, incited by Chinese Communists, had plotted to seize the nationalist authorities at Changchun, Manchurian capital, holding them as ransom for the freedom of young Marshal Chang Hsueh Liang, still under nationalist surveillance for his part in the kidnaping of Chiang Kai-shek in 1936.

The executive committee of the Democratic League—still more a vocal than a political force in China—today urged self-government for Manchuria and also announced it would seek establishment of a coalition government in China. It expressed hope that "Britain's progressive Labor government would influence United States policy in China."

A spokesman said the league opposed mediation by any single power, but saw no reason why the United States, Russia and Britain should not jointly mediate China's internal dissension.

REACTION IN CHINA ON GEN. MARSHALL

PEIPING, Dec. 1 (AP)—The appointment of Gen. George C. Marshall as special United States envoy to China was welcomed by Communist, Kuomintang (national) and neutral factions in north China, where the presence of American troops, planes and ships have become a major issue in the current civil strife.

An unofficial Communist spokesman expressed relief that Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley had resigned as United States Ambassador and regretted that Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of American forces in China, had not been removed at the same time.

A Kuomintang English-language newspaper, the Peiping Chronicle, said editorially, "It may be confidently assumed that there will be no change in policy of the United States toward China."

He told reporters Marshall is well equipped to decide immediately such difficult questions as whether to withdraw United States marines and whether to sell war materiel to China.

Asked whether the United States would transport Chinese government forces to Manchuria by air, Wedemeyer replied that "Manchuria is a Russian theater of operations, and if Chinese and Russians are holding the discussions in that regard, they are on a higher level than myself—the two can make agreements without involving me."

Confirming that hundreds of American aircraft had been ordered flown into the Shanghai area from India and Burma, Wedemeyer said he personally ordered the mass flights halted when he learned that weather conditions had caused loss of 11 of 22 fighter planes on one hop in eastern China.

At last reports, two pilots were dead and one missing, from the lost fighter planes.

No combat planes have been given to China since the war ended, he added, and only non-combat types were being assembled for possible sale to Chiang Kai-shek's government.

UMBERTO ASKS DE GASPERI TO FORM CABINET IN ITALY

ROME, Dec. 1 (AP)—Foreign Minister Alcide de Gasperi was invited by Crown Prince Umberto today to attempt to form an Italian Government to succeed that of Ferruccio Parri, whose six-party coalition cabinet fell last week.

A royal communique said De Gaspari told Umberto there was a possibility of forming a government based on the six parties which make up the National Committee of liberation and "other elements."

Labor-Industry Conference Ends

considered by the general conference. The executive committee worked continuously for four hours trying to iron out the differences and failed.

Split Reports Made Public.

The three split reports were made public, however, and verified what was already generally known, that these committees were in irreconcilable disagreement. The management group, for propaganda purposes, issued a separate report combining the management views expressed in the six working committees.

As previously announced, three of the minor committees made unanimous reports. These were on the Labor Department's conciliation services, initial agreements and interpretation and renewal of existing contracts.

The conciliation services committee recommended better pay and larger appropriations for this agency of the Labor Department. The initial agreement committee merely outlined what first contracts should include. The existing contracts committee, however, made the important recommendation, but without suggesting penalties, that there be no strikes or lockouts until all orderly procedures, including voluntarly arbitration, had been exhausted.

Some Progress, Rand Says.

William M. Rand, president of the Monsanto Chemical Co. of St. Louis and a management delegate who served on the 16-man executive committee and the conciliation services group, made a typical comment on the work of the conference. He told the Post-Dispatch:

"The conference did not meet the high hopes which were expressed for it by the President, the Secretary of Labor and the Secretary of Commerce. It set no formulae for accomplishment of industrial peace. It did, however, accomplish some important goals. Three of its committees unanimously agreed on procedures which will minimize strikes. It clearly defined the areas of disagreement—areas which may be diminished in the future by continuation of informal discussions, and management has submitted to the public a plan which will accomplish the desired results."

The collective bargaining committee split over "union responsibility" demanded by management, and "union security" demanded by labor. The management members asked also for legislation so that "both parties to a labor agreement be equally answerable as entities in judicial proceedings for conduct in violation of contracts or legal requirements."

The committee on management's right to manage was hopelessly divided and could not agree on a list defining what were management's rights and what should be included in agreements. Management was emphatic that foremen and other supervisory employes should not have the right to organize to bargain collectively. It urgently recommended that the term "employe" in the Wagner Act be clearly defined, either by the National Labor Relations Board or by Congress, to exclude all persons holding full-time managerial and supervisory positions. Labor said it would be inappropriate for the committee to make any recommendations regarding the unionization of foremen while this issue was pending before the NLRB.

The committee on representation and jurisdictional questions also was hopelessly in disagreement. Labor insisted that the "right to strike shall remain inviolate," while management wanted no work stoppages over representation or during jurisdictional disputes, and advocated new legislation if labor did not settle its own problems.

Deductions From Conference.

Several deductions can be made from the conference's minor accomplishments and major failures. These are:

1. Labor and management appear unanimously agreed against compulsory arbitration in any form. This seems to doom the Ball-Burton-Hatch bill, which calls for a limited form of compulsion in disputes involving health and safety and national public welfare.

2. Management advocates and a large segment of labor opposes "fact-finding commissions," which are an integral part of Senator Brien McMahon's industrial disputes bill, and an important provision of the B2H bill.

3. Management wants amendment of the Wagner Act to put it on what it considers a parity with organized labor. Labor apparently is against any new laws which would deprive it of its legislative gains during the Roosevelt administration. It generally is against any proposal that would limit what it considers its "right to strike."

4. In this conference, management was on the offensive, labor on the defensive. The management members presented a united front, to the conference at least. This was done by caucuses. The AFL-CIO split continued up until the final session. President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers and Green of the AFL made an effective team, and their cooperation may presage the inclusion of the UMW in the AFL camp.

5. The AFL and the CIO did join against management in demanding higher wages immediately. Old-fashioned battles will be fought on this line.

6. The conference just ended may be an important step toward better industrial relations. The delegates approved establishment of an informal semi-permanent eight-man executive committee to continue the work of the conference. Dr. George W. Taylor, conference secretary, told reporters that the sessions were "making the tools necessary to build the machinery needed to minimize industrial strife." Such a conference, according to Lewis, would have been impossible as recently as 1937. In 1933, it would have been considered visionary.

It was on this hopeful note that the conference ended last night. While there was needling of the opposition by the final speakers, even the committee spokesmen tried to outdo each other in complimenting the sincerity, candor and effectiveness of their opposite numbers.

President Daniel J. Tobin of the Teamsters' Union, who had earlier forecast failure of the conference, told the general session that "now that we know what's in each other's minds, other and more successful conferences will follow." In reply, John A. Stephens, a vice president of the United States Steel Corporation, said that the "areas of disagreements had been isolated" and that the "friendships we have made here will be continued."

President Eric Johnston of the United States Chamber of Commerce announced that the results of the conference would be "disappointing to the American people as they are, in some respects, to me." He pointed out that "this is the only country in the world today where such a conference could be held, where management and labor believe in free enterprise, or what I call competitive capitalism."

He asserted that neither side wanted compulsory arbitration after seeing what had happened in foreign countries.

Oversold, Mosher Says.

Mosher conceded that the conference had been oversold to the public, which had been led to believe it might find some way to bring peace to the home front.

"Perhaps it was unfair to the people of this country," he told the delegates, "to permit such high hopes to flourish unchecked. Perhaps it was wrong to let the people think any one conference of this kind could find a panacea for all the ills that have beset relations between labor and management in this country—or could come up overnight with the miracle answer to current disputes between employer and employe in some of our large industries."

He praised the labor delegates, saying that he had learned to respect and admire them.

"Surely," he said, "nothing but good can come eventually from such a meeting of minds and heart."

Lewis Conciliatory.

It remained for Lewis to set the tone for the very end of the conference. Talking in as much of a conversational manner as his oratorical style permits, he was smooth and conciliatory. Observing that in the heat of debate, strong men are prone to use strong language, he addressed himself to the management delegates:

"If, perchance, I have said anything that has injured your feelings, blame my ineptitude in the usage of our native tongue."

He had no apologies for the labor delegates, remarking that it was labor's business to give and take.

He said that he had learned a lesson at the conference from management's precise and efficient organization, which he contrasted with the divisions within labor's ranks. He made what many thought was bid for joining of the UMW and AFL forces, but declared that the unification of labor was labor's own task and not that of management or of the public.

He concluded by saying solemnly that "as long as we have conferences of this character, I have no fear for the future of the country."

The conference's final act was to adopt a motion by Green thanking Judge Walter P. Stacy for his impartiality as chairman of the conference.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach attended the closing session but declined to comment on the conference work, explaining that he and Secretary of Commerce Wallace would first make a report to President Truman.

Successes and Failures

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP).

HERE in brief are the accomplishments and failures of the four-week labor-management conference:

THE DELEGATES AGREED TO:

1. A recommendation that company-union contracts contain clauses requiring processing of grievances over the meaning of the contract by orderly procedures including final and binding arbitration without resort to strikes or lockouts.

2. A recommendation for prompt bargaining in "good faith" toward writing initial collective agreements without work stoppages "until all other peaceful procedures" including voluntary arbitration have failed.

3. A recommendation to strengthen the United States Conciliation Service and develop a part-time staff of skilled Government arbitrators.

4. Creation of a continuing committee of eight top management and labor leaders to work out improved relations.

5. A declaration urging "tolerance and equality of economic opportunity in respect to race, sex, color, religion, age, national origin or ancestry in determining who are employed and who are admitted to labor union membership."

LEONARD BERNSTEIN CONCERT A SUCCESS

Young American Opens Series as Guest Conductor of St. Louis Symphony.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN

Leonard Bernstein, the young American conductor and composer, whose career, on both levels, continues to be a provocative subject of discussion, began a series of two pair of concerts as guest conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra yesterday afternoon in Kiel Auditorium. The audience was not large and the program was not grateful. Yet the concert was a success by every standard and in a way that proved once again Mr. Bernstein's exceptional quality.

The difficulties of the program he chose to present were not such as to be resolved by the mere application of youthful fire and energy. The Schumann C Major Symphony, for instance, is so hard to project that most conductors avoid it as they would quicksand. Like all the symphonic works of Schumann, its qualities are compromised by unskillful orchestration and weak, unimaginative thematic development. It has much to say but there are impediments to its articulation.

To get as much out of it as Bernstein did took conviction, perception, control and the ability to communicate as well as to feel one's ardor. And there was an ardor in his presentation, which no one could escape, particularly in the slow movement where a serene opening melody became progressively more tense and more eloquent until it worked itself into a high passion. The symphony as a whole was endowed with sentience and unity, but there were still many dull stretches, such as the unnecessary contrapuntal episode in the Adagio, where the patient listener merely marked time in the assurance that something good would be coming along in a few seconds.

The performance was, in brief, a sort of small wonder of interpretive magic done without mirrors. The orchestra was precise in detail and had a consistently good tone quality even in the projection of the more opaque parts of the score.

The first part of the program was devoted to two aspects of Mexico and Beethoven's Leonore No. 3 overture. The first Mexican piece was the "Sinfonia India" by Carlos Chavez, whose material was derived from tribal dances of the indigenous population even though one of the principal melodies has a distinctly Gaelic flavor. The scoring is straightforward, strong, vivid and achieves, at times, a certain hypnotic effect by repetition. Its harmonic scheme is simple to the point of bareness, but it has much variety in its melody and its rhythms are propulsive in a primitive way.

The performance by Bernstein and the orchestra had an inexorable forward movement, was brilliant in its sound and stimulating in its rhythm. The orchestra was just as responsive in Aaron Copland's "El Salon Mexico," where the rhythms, while less primitive, were still directed at the motor centers. The material of this piece was presented in snatches, as if the composer were recording a general impression rather than a literal description. It was a rich, exciting and vivid presentation.

The program will be repeated tonight.

47-MAN JAP FORCE ON SAIPAN GIVES UP; IN HILLS 18 MONTHS

HONOLULU, Dec. 1 (AP)—A die-hard Japanese garrison consisting of a captain, a lieutenant and 45 army and navy men formally surrendered yesterday on Saipan to Lt. Col. Howard G. Kurgis of Beloit, Kan., after being holed up in the hills for 18 months.

Daily Target, Army newspaper, said Kurgis, commanding the Eighteenth Marine Anti-Aircraft Battalion, accepted the surrender by Capt. Sakae Oba, the group's senior officer.

This tattered remnant of a once strong fighting force marched out of the hills in formation, carrying a Japanese flag. They carried American-made carbines, Browning automatic rifles, pistols and Japanese rifles, but no ammunition. The surrender was arranged through a Japanese Army envoy.

POLITTE URGES SPEEDUP IN REVISION OF STATE LAWS

Speed in changing the laws of Missouri to conform with the new State constitution was urged yesterday in a radio address by Leo A. Politte, Democratic candidate for State Senator from the Twenty-fifth Senatorial District, including St. Louis, Gasconade and Franklin counties.

A special election will be held in those counties next Tuesday, for the purpose of electing a senator to replace Joseph A. Falzone (Rep.) of Clayton, who resigned during a Senate investigation of bribery charges against him. Politte's opponent is Hartwell Crain, Republican of Kirkwood.

In his address, which was broadcast by radio station KXOK, Politte said, if elected, he would go to the Senate with the express purpose of completing the job of revision in a "workmanlike manner and in the shortest possible time."

Yugoslavs Claim Nearly Everything In Disputed Area of Venezia Giulia, Complicate Allied Administration

Figure They Won the War (With Some Outside Help) So Spoils Are Theirs—Food Is Scarce, Consequently UNRRA Supplies Become Powerful Political Weapon.

TRIESTE.

THE Allied officers who are now trying to govern western Venezia Giulia, pending its cession by higher authority to Italy or Yugoslavia, tell me that the principal difficulties they encounter hereabouts are the exorbitant claims Yugoslavia is making on all property in the region.

This territory has always been run on capitalistic principles, and capitalists here, although still moderately well heeled, are pretty frightened. They want to know whether goods they own today are going to be theirs tomorrow, and until they do know they are pretty reluctant to do business. If they do not do business, a lot of hungry and cold people here are going to be even hungrier and colder before some new system of living is established.

Here in Trieste, Allied military rulers are conferring daily with representatives of Premier Josip Broz (Marshal Tito), and these representatives are members of the so-called war booty committee. The Yugoslav members of this war booty committee tell American and British members that their country is entitled to about everything here.

Yugoslav Viewpoint.

They say they are the rightful owners of all shipping found in the harbor, although much of it is sunk. They are the rightful owners of all currency found in banks. They are rightful owners of all furniture or other equipment found in buildings which formerly were of service to the Italian or German armies prior to their surrender.

The way the Yugoslavs look at it, they have defeated the Italian and German armies—with some outside help—and all this country around here which used to be held down by Italian and German armies belongs to them.

When they were fighting Italy and Germany, everybody in Trieste was helping their enemies. Now they have won a great war and they see no reason why they cannot take over the property of the people who collaborated with their enemies.

The Yugoslavs claim as rightfully theirs all industrial material now in idle factories, such as steel in the Ilva steel works, derricks in the Monfalcone shipyards—though most of these have been blown to pieces by American bombers—all soap and oil, all vehicles, ranging from big trucks to horsedrawn carts, and all tools down to the last hammer and screw driver. All these, the Yugoslavs say, belong to them.

Everything in Trieste which by the slightest connection might be called industrial or commercial property, including the personal automobile of any business man who failed to resist the Germans or Fascists during Yugoslavia's war, is now properly the property of the Yugoslavian people and their government, assert Tito's representatives, and they are asking the Allies to hand it over.

Business Stands Still.

Business men in this country know this. They know that the Allied governments are now engaged in diplomatic negotiations on the highest level to determine the very fate of their city, and they are naturally reluctant to start any long-term enterprise until the situation clears.

They live on their fat, meanwhile, and live very well. If the great world powers decide to hand their city over to the Yugoslavs, I am informed, a lot of people who have been accustomed to running Trieste will be running for shelter in some other country, abandoning everything they own and cannot carry with them.

The Allied military rulers, by the very nature of this situation, have been forced to be protectors of the people who, the Yugoslavs say, are their enemies.

Indeed, if the Allies complied immediately in the surrender of long lists of property, which Tito's representatives mimeograph and turn over for the inspection of the war booty committee, the Allied military government could not function, because the Yugoslavs are claiming the beds they sleep in, the tables they eat from and the desks they work at.

Fuel Problem Serious.

The principal Allied officer trying to make this city function in an economic way so that the people can live is a British colonel named Bickerstaff, who says the most serious problem is fuel for winter. It is already so cold that my teeth chatter like castanets, and there is no heat in the best hotel here.

Col. Bickerstaff tells me that in normal times 100,000 tons of coal monthly was brought into Trieste from mines in Venezia Giulia just across the Morgan line in Zone B, which is now Yugoslav territory. So far the Yugoslavs have been unwilling to let Trieste have any of this coal, so we have to bring in our own from the United States or South Africa.

Allied authorities are now negotiating with Tito's representatives for coal and firewood but are making little headway. It seems that the Yugoslavs need all the coal and wood they have and are even anxious for more, so they are very reluctant to part with any except at a price still undetermined.

Trieste really is not so badly off economically as many of the cities I have been seeing in Europe recently. The war destroyed its dock and shipyard, but most of the city is intact, and it is one of the most modern and beautiful in this part of the world.

Normally its population is about 250,000, but thousands of refugees create a housing shortage. Many of these refugees are rich and doing a lively business in hashish or jewels.

As nearly as the Allies can learn, there are about 30,000 unemployed out of a normal employment figure of 70,000. The Allies have introduced unemployment bounties, or a dole, whereby about 30,000 people are drawing $1 a day to enable them to live.

Some Persons Starving.

The food situation is described as "tight but not extreme." The Allies have brought in military rations and are actually feeding the entire population 800 calories daily at a controlled low price, but the population has to buy on the black or free market food enough to make up the 2100 calories daily which the Allied authorities believe ample. There is no doubt that the bulk of the population is undernourished and some are starving.

Allied food for Trieste consists of stuff which the people otherwise could not find locally—flour, salt, sugar—and eggs and milk for invalids, children and old people.

One gets a false impression of the city if one walks only in the center, where butcher shops are more filled with meat than they are in Paris or Rome and luxury goods are on display at lower prices than in either great capital.

Living Cost Up 1000 Pct.

The best Allied estimate of the rise in the cost of living for Trieste citizens since war broke out in 1940 is 1000 per cent. Butter, for instance, costs $5 a pound. Multiply the price of most things one bought in 1940 around here by 10 and you get the picture.

There are two markets here besides the government-controlled market. One is the so-called free market and the other is the so-called black market. The free market is one dealing in goods which have been stolen from Allied military authorities and these include thousands of blankets, thousands of packs of cigarettes, thousands of canned food items. On the black market are not only Allied military supplies but plenty of supplies of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

UNRRA Goods a Weapon.

UNRRA supplies sent into Yugoslavia find their way back here. Barry White, UNRRA representative here, has told Allied military government people that if they find UNRRA supplies on the black market they can confiscate them and do as they please with them. UNRRA supplies are used in communal messes of the revolutionary Yugoslav partisans here in Trieste who are aiming to take over the city, if they can, once the Allied military forces have left it.

These UNRRA goods have become a political weapon because when you have large masses of hungry people, you can buy the loyalties of many with food. It is one of the many little ironies around here that the Allies are feeding a great many people who are making war on them to the best of their ability.

SENATOR'S SON ORDERED BACK INADVERTENTLY, SAYS NAVY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Navy Department spokesmen said yesterday that the reassignment from Hawaii to the United States of the sailor son of Senator Stewart (Dem.), Tennessee, was inadvertent.

The Honolulu edition of the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes had reported that Seaman First Class Paul I. Stewart, 18 years old, was reassigned to the United States with only 18 discharge points to his credit. Navy personnel ordinarily are not returned to United States duty with less than 38 points.

Navy Department spokesmen said orders had been sent to the Waipio amphibious training base in Hawaii, where Stewart was stationed, to transfer a certain number of men in certain ratings to Norfolk, Va. They added that the orders did not stipulate individuals by name.

If the Senator's son has not yet left Hawaii with the group, a Navy public relations officer said, the commander there has authority to substitute another man.

LAWRENCE SALARANO SUES; LOCKED OUT OF HOME, HE SAYS

Suit for divorce was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Lawrence Salarano, proprietor of the Italian Catering Co., 1729 Washington avenue. He asked custody of three children, Lawrence Jr., 7 years old, Jerry, 5, and Olga, 9.

Salarano alleged that his wife compelled him to buy a home with her parents despite his desire to provide a separate home for his wife and children.

The Salaranos were married Feb. 11, 1935, and separated Oct. 10, at which time, the petition charged, he was locked out of the house and has been unable to enter since. Salarano's attorney, Louis E. Zuckerman, said a separate maintainance suit has been filed against Salarano by his wife.

RED WRITER RAPS HURLEY AS VOICE OF IMPERIALISTS

Calls Him 'Mouthpiece' for Elements Seeking U.S. Domination in Asia, Other Areas.

MOSCOW, Dec. 1 (AP)—Soviet commentator Boris Yakovlev charged today that Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, former ambassador to China, was a "mouthpiece" for American imperialistic elements seeking "inseparable domination of the United States in Asia and in other parts of the world."

Yakovlev's comment, published in the newspapers Pravda and Trud, was the first reaction in the Russian press to the current controversy over American diplomacy in China. Pravda is the Commnunist party newspaper. The comment was not published in Izvestia, the government newspaper.

Hurley's blast at U. S. diplomacy in China, the commentator wrote, "is an original maneuver of the most impetuous imperialist circles who, under the flag of criticism of 'professional diplomats' and 'introduction of corrections' in the policy of the United States, not only defended the imperialistic policy of the referred-to circles but also tried to hang it onto the state leadership of the United States."

Yakovlev said that Hurley's statement implied that "maintenance by the U. S.A . of the Atlantic charter is a mistake."

The former ambassador's contention that U. S. interests in China are being jeopardized by "colonial imperialism" and "communist imperialism" was "invented by Hurley himself," the Soviet writer asserted. He added:

"Thusly, by his own statement, Hurley appears as the mouthpiece for those imperialistic elements in the United States who intend to establish the inseparable domination of the United States in Asia and in other parts of the world."

In Washington, an aide said Gen. Hurley had no comment on Yakovlev's statements.

$122,275,000 IN FLOOD FUNDS RESTORED, BILL PASSES HOUSE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 — The deficiency appropriation bill, increased on the floor of the House from $1,131,452,312 to $1,434,792,312, was passed yesterday on voice vote and sent to the Senate. Changes by the House, overriding its Appropriations Committee, included restoration of $122,275,000 of the $128,475,000 for army flood control and navigation work.

One of the few army projects omitted by the House was $1,000,000 to start work on the highly controversial Osceola dam and reservoir on the Osage river in western Missouri. This was left for consideration in the bill for the next fiscal year, to be taken up next spring.

In general, the House's action constituted a victory for supporters of the Pick-Sloan plan for control of the Missouri basin. It had been argued since the Appropriations Committee undertook to knock out the Army's funds Monday that the failure to provide money for these projects strengthened the cause of advocates of the Missouri Valley Authority. President Truman had requested the appropriations. The House vote on restoring them was 137 to 83.

INTERSTATE TELEPHONE RATES TO BE REDUCED NEXT FEB. 1

Reprinted from yesterday's late edition.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. announced yesterday rate reductions for interstate services aggregating more than 20 million dollars yearly and effective next Feb. 1, under agreement with the Federal Communications Commission.

About $17,500,000 of the reduction is in long-di ance telephone rates, principally for distances between 340 and 2140 miles, the company said. It added that rates for teletypewriter exchange service for distances of more than 350 miles will be cut about one million dollars annually.

About $1,700,000 annually will be cut from rates for private line telephone, teletypewriter and telephotograph at the longer hauls, the company said.

Dorn, University City, and Mrs. John Shelhamer, Mrs. Frederick Groves and Mrs. George Elliott, lal of Chicago.

B[illegible]l's Emergency Law Revoked.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 1 (AP)—President Jose Linhares yesterday revoked Brazil's state of emergency imposed by the 1937 constitution which allowed the President to detain or banish citizens, censor correspondence, prevent public meetings, search and seize domiciles and otherwise limit civil rights.

Union Studies G.M.C. Offer To Work for Competitors

customers if there was any possible way to do it.

"Therefore, we are willing to ship any materials which are ready for shipment to other manufacturers. We also are willing and offer to operate all of our parts and accessory divisions during the period of the strike exclusively on outside work—that is, on material required by manufacturers other than the General Motors' car, truck and body divisions.

"Upon acceptance by your union of this proposal, the management of each of these divisions will call back to work the men required to do this with the definite understanding that none of them will be asked to do any work not involved in the production and shipment of material for these outside manufacturers."

Walter P. Reuther, union vice president, declined immediate comment but a union spokesman said Reuther told reporters at Washington Thursday he was agreeable to shipment of finished General Motors parts to the Packard Motor Car Co. to prevent a shutdown there.

No Agreement on Picketing.

The proposal came shortly after Reuther and General Motors executives had failed to reach an agreement at a meeting called to discuss the corporation's charge of "illegal picketing" at the struck plants. The company has refused to resume negotiations as long as supervisory employes are denied entrance and until the union "modifies" its 30 per cent wage increase demand.

Reuther denied the illegal picketing charge and said "We are not going to modify our wage demand as a condition for collective bargaining."

"You negotiate modification," he added. "You do not modify before negotiation."

Asserting the union "may be required to take steps to further paralyze General Motors, Reuther said the union would remain on strike until a settlement acceptable to it is reached.

To Wilson's statement that the union might have to settle for something less than a 10 per cent increase, he replied that Wilson "is kidding himself" if he thinks that.

Until the parts production offer was made, the deadlock became more apparent with the breakdown of the picketing discussion—recessed until Wednesday—and Reuther's stand at a press conference.

Conciliation Meeting.

H. W. Anderson, General Motors president, will confer with Chief vice president, will confer with Chief Federal Conciliator Edgar L. Warren and possibly Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach at Washington Tuesday. Warren said he would attempt to get wage negotiations resumed promptly.

Union Names Citizens' Committee.

The union, meanwhile, invited a group of educators, churchmen, editors, business men and farm leaders to serve as a "citizens' committee" in the dispute, and held what it may consider an "ace-in-the-hole" in its negotiations with the Ford Motor Co.

Invited by the union to meet here Dec. 4-5 and study a "verbatim transcript of negotiations to date" were presidential adviser Bernard M. Baruch; Dr. James Conant, president of Harvard University; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy and editor of the Raleigh (S. C.) News and Observer; Beardsley Ruml, president of R. H. Macy & Co., New York.

Also, Dr. Arthur H. Compton, chancellor of Washington University, St. Louis; Clarence Avildson, chairman of the Republic Drill & Tool Co., Anderson, Ind.; Mrs. J B. Caulkins, Y.W.C.A. president; the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, senior auxiliary bishop of the Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago; Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution; C. F. Hughes, business news editor of the New York Times; Murray Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation; James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers' Union; Albert Goss of the National Grange; W. W. Waymack, editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune; Actor Orson Welles; Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam; Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and F. R. Von Windegger, St. Louis banker.

Reuther said the meeting would be held because the press and radio had been barred, at General Motors' request, from negotiating sessions, and to show publicly "how far the union has gone in trying to obtain a fair settlement of the case."

The Ford negotiations were postponed from yesterday until Monday at the request of the UAW-Ford director Richard T. Leonard, who said there had been an "important development." The development is "so important from our point of view," he said, "that we can't reveal it, even off the record."

Rumors that Ford would grant a sizeable wage increase have persisted despite the company's rejection of the 30 per cent demand.

The Chrysler Corporation-union contract has been extended from last midnight until Dec. 4, when negotiations are scheduled to be resumed.

200 PHYSICISTS URGE WORLD ATOMIC PARLEY

A resolution deploring a possibl "atomic bomb armament race" and urging a special international conference of the United Nations to control military use of bomb, was adopted last night at an informal meeting at Hotel Jefferson of the American Physical Society. About 200 members are meeting here for its annual conference.

The resolution, introduced by Dr. Alexander S. Langsdorf Jr. of the University of Chicago, who has been prominent in atomic energy research, will be presented to Congress. It will be accompanied by a stipulation that the views expressed are those of 200 members of the American Physical Society and not necessarily those of the entire society, which has 5000 members.

Dr. H. H. Goldsmith of the Chicago University Metallurgical Laboratory was elected chairman of the meeting, which was called at the prompting of some of the younger physicists. They have urged that world physicists emerge from the "vacuum" in which they have been working and take steps to enlist the cooperation of social scientists, business executives and statesmen in dealing with the "broad aspects" of atomic bomb control.

International Action Stressed.

The need for co-operation among all nations for joint action in decisions affecting the future use of atomic energy was stressed at the meeting. It was the first national gathering of this nature to convene for a discussion of atomic energy since the announcement of the first atomic bombardment of Japan.

A paper on the diffusion of radiant energy through X-rays was presented by Chancellor Arthur H. Compton of Washington University today before the society. This was the principal address of a two-day symposium to commemorate their discovery by William Conrad Roentgen 50 years ago.

"The Scattering of X-ray Photons" was the subject of Dr. Compton, who has played an important part in the development of the atomic bomb.

In 1922 Dr. Compton demonstrated that X-rays are not really waves in the sense that longer wave-length radiations are. By showing that electrons are dislodged from certain substances exposed to X-rays, he revealed that the rays are made up of high-velocity particles (photons). Since that time Dr. Compton has been investigating the use of the tremendous energy of cosmic rays to supplement the use of the cyclotron in nuclear fission work.

Discovery 'Highly Accidental.'

Belief that the discovery of X-rays was "highly accidental" was expressed by G.E.M. Jauncey, professor of physics at Washington University, in a paper presented yesterday afternoon.

Roentgen, an obscure physicist at the University of Wuerzburg, was lucky but alert, Dr. Jauncey said. He was quick to investigate when, on Nov. 8, 1895, he observed a barium-platine-cyanide screen, lying near a vacuum tube encased in black cardboard, emitted radiation when the tube was discharging.

Realizing that the "something" coming from the tube had the power to penetrate materials opaque to ordinary light, he made photographs of bones of the human hand which, when widely published, created a world-wide sensation. He called them X-rays because he was unable to determine their nature.

The discovery of the rays and their subsequent investigation jolted scientists from their classical ideas of matter and energy and ushered in a new era in physics, Dr. Jauncey said.

A number of highly technical papers were listed for presentation on today's concluding program of the symposium, the authors including the Rev. Vincent P. Jacobsmeyer, S. J.; A. H. Weber and the Rev. M. Gonzaga Plantenberg, O.S.B., all of St. Louis University.

Representatives of 18 universities and a number of Government and commercial laboratories attended the two-day meeting—the 268th in the history of the society.

VICTORY LOAN WEEK PROCLAIMED FOR AREA

Proclamations designating next week as "Victory Loan Week" were issued today by Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann and the mayors of 15 suburban communities in a concerted effort to meet the $122,981,000 quota assigned to St. Louis and St. Louis county before the drive ends next Saturday.

The proclamations called on ministers to urge purchase of bonds in sermons tomorrow, requested business men to display campaign appeals in their establishments, and asked schools to assist in the drive.

To date, bond sales total $81,256,927, or 66 per cent of the quota, it was announced byRufus R. Clabaugh, campaign chairman.

The over-all figure included sales totaling $8,856,666 in bonds to persons employed in plants and factories in the city and county. Frank A. Molumby, chairman of the industrial division of the campaign, announced. Sales in the division have increased more than $4,000,000 in 10 days.

Sale of bonds of the E series to individuals, also included in the metropolitan total, amounted to $7,429,625, or 36.8 per cent of the $20,139,000 E bond quota. It was pointed out that the lag in the sale of E bonds could be taken up by the purchase of these bonds as Christmas gifts.

A preview of the motion picture, "Stork Club," will be presented tonight at the Fox Theater, 527 North Grand avenue. Admission may be gained only by the purchase of Victory bonds. An hour-long stage performance will follow the preview, which is being presented under the sponsorship of the Fox Theater and American Legion posts and auxiliaries of the Eleventh and Twelfth districts.

Capt. Stephen Bonner Jr., a veteran of 72 combat missions in the China-Burma-India theater of operations, was principal speaker at a meeting of the Fathers' Club of St. Louis University High School recently. William D. Walsh, vice chairman of the bond campaign, presented a Treasury Department banner to students, who purchased $170,000 worth of bonds.

OFFERS TO PAY FARE FOR ADULT TO FLY HOME WITH SICK BOY

St. Louisan to Buy Ticket So Child With Paralysis Can Make Christmas Trip.

Christmas at home was virtually assured Glen Pomeroy, 13-year-old infantyle paralysis victim from Lebanon, Ill., who is now a patient in a Minneapolis hospital, through the offer of a St. Louis man to pay the expenses of a person to accompany the boy home by plane in compliance with flight regulations.

Efforts were being made today to obtain a reservation on the Minneapolis-St. Louis plane for Dec. 21, on which a seat already has been reserved for the boy. Tickets for the adult to accompany him to St. Louis and back to Minneapolis after the holidays will be paid for by Ruby Friedman, 7557 Stanford avenue, University City.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pomeroy, former St. Louisans, said they were swamped with telephone calls from persons offering to help after the story of the family's plight appeared in yesterday's newspapers. "It certainly is a lesson in the goodness of people," said Mrs. Pomeroy.

Friedman, a seed dealer, said simply: "I have two children of my own. I know what it means to have them at home for Christmas."

COURT AUTHORIZES DIVIDENDS BY SUBSIDIARY OF MO. PAC

Guy A. Thompson, trustee for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, was authorized yesterday by United States District Judge George H. Moore to order the payment of $1,166,325 in dividends on 5 per cent non-cumulative preferred stock of its subsidiary, Texas & Pacific Railroad, and on 229,500 shares of common stock of that road.

The preferred stock dividend, amounting to $592,575 will be paid Dec. 26 to the Manufacturers' Trust Co. of New York City, which is the corporate trustee under Missouri Pacific first and refunding mortgage bonds. Dividends of $286,875 on common stock will be paid to J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York to be held for Morgan & Co. and associates in proportion to their respective interests in notes of the Missouri Pacific, for which 114,750 shares of stock was pledged as security. A similar amount will be paid to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which also holds 114,750 shares of common stock as security for Missouri Pacific notes.

Judge Moore also authorized Thompson to purchase 100 70-ton steel hopper freight cars, 50 of which will cost $230,000 and be used on Missouri Pacific lines. The other 50, to cost $233,500, will be used by the International-Great Northern Railroad, a subsidiary of Missouri Pacific.

22 BRITISH TROOPS CAPTURED, KILLED BY INDONESIANS

Airborne Group Beaten, Cut to Death After Crash Landing, Eyewitness Says.

By VERN HAUGLAND

BEKASSI, Java, Dec. 1 (AP)—Naked bodies, believed to be those of 18 Indian soldiers and four Englishmen, were found in a shallow grave in this village 12 miles west of Batavia today.

The Dutch news agency A.N.E.T.A. said the bodies were those of the crew and passengers of a transport plane which crashed in Batavia's outskirts last Friday.

An Indonesian woman, who had been held prisoner in the barracks where the men were confined, led a British unit to the burial spot. She said four white men and 18 Indians were brought in last Saturday. They were beaten that night, she said, and Sunday they were led to the nearby river bank, with their hands tied behind them, where they were individually assaulted by yelling men with "anything that would cut."

The woman, who had been imprisoned because she was married to an Amboinese, said she overheard a telephone conversation which indicated that an Indonesian general was informed about the prisoners and had ordered them killed.

British native troops, acting on reports that the missing airmen had been in Bekassi, sent a patrol to this village yesterday. They found it deserted, with only a Duth youth and three Amboinese women in jail. This morning a battalion from Batavia, with tanks, mortars, artillery and air support, reached Bekassi without difficulty.

This was the second reported instance of flyers and airborne troops being killed by natives after being forced down. A week ago, British forces burned a number of native villages in reprisal for the mutilation killings of five Royal Air Force flyers and 20 Indian soldiers whose plane had crash-landed near Batavia.

WESTERN UNION STRIKE VOTED IN NEW YORK AREA, 5277-478

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Western Union employes in the New York area voted 5277 to 478 in favor of a strike, Mrs. Marjorie Himes, Regional National Labor Relations Board examiner, said yesterday.

Joseph P. Selly, international president of the CIO American Communications Association, said that "as to the exercise of this mandate to strike, we'll use it when, as and if necessary to protect the wage award."

A Regional War Labor Board directive granted a union demand for a 10-cent-an-hour pay increase. The Western Union Telegraph Co. has appealed the case to the national board.

TWO ACCUSED OF USING UNRRA EQUIPMENT IN COUNTERFEITING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Chief Frank Wilson of the Secret Service said last night that two men had been charged with printing counterfeit money on equipment of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, where they had been employed. The bogus money consisted of $1 and $10 bills.

Wilson said Manuel Gonzalez had admitted making the counterfeit plates and printing the notes. A part-time employe of the UNRRA office here, Daniel Jacob Bennington, 19 years old, has been charged with being an accessory, Wilson said.

TRUMAN CALLS ON INDUSTRY TO WORK FOR JOBS FOR ALL

Wallace Tells Business Group Scientific Management Is Necessary Today.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—President Truman joined Secretary of Commerce Wallace last night in urging management to "fully discuss and understand" its responsibility in achieving full employment.

The President, in a message read at the annual dinner of the Society for the Advancement of Management, said that if the United States is to maintain high production, industry must "gear itself with the public interest" and "day-to-day management decisions must be sound."

He told the management representatives:

"Every time you set a price or a wage or a specification for a job, every time you select a product design or a machine or a merchandising policy, every time you accept or reject a proposed extension or improvement, you are deciding just those practical matters which determine the outcome. If these separate private decisions are not well taken, they will not add up to the right score in high production."

Wallace, in a letter read to the meeting, said "scientific management is simply the only way to deal with the problems of this scientific world," and "the fact that we are determined to maintain a free society and a free economy is a condition of the problem that constitutes simply another challenge to our resourcefulness."

Delegates to the two-day meeting heard the drive for shorter hours of retail selling and sales promotion effort assailed by Dr. Paul H. Nystrom, chairman of the central council of the National Retail Trades Association, as leading only to "less retail sales."

William L. Batt, United States member of the Combined Raw Materials Board, said the nation needed a long-term foreign trade policy to last over from one Administration to another. Batt, former vice chairman of the War Production Board, said that most international economic issues "have nothing whatsoever to do realistically with either Republican or Democratic party practices."

Labor-management co-operation will be discussed at today's sessions by John R. Steelman, special assistant to President Truman; William H. Davis, former stabilization director, officers of CIO and AFL unions, and representatives of industry.

FOURTEEN-YEAR PEAK AVERAGE STOCK PRICE

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—The stock market reached for 14-year average peak today with leaders up fractions to a point or more and assorted strong specialties enjoying much wider jumps.

The strike stalemate and the breakup of the labor-management conference at Washington failed to touch off any real selling because of the growing belief wage controversies would be ironed out by the turn of the year when corporations will begin to reap the benefits of excess profits tax elimination.

Still on the side of bullish contingents were split-ups, actual and rumored, pleasing dividends, earnings and the pressure of huge amounts of idle cash seeking refuge from inflation.

Coal stocks came to life after a steady opening in the wake of a boosted price for anthracite granted by the OPA. This propped sentiment on the idea more leniency might be expected for other ceilings. While scattered losers were in evidence near the close, plus signs predominated. Dealings speeded up at intervals and transfers for the two hours were 1,280,000 shares.

On an advance of .3 of a point the Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at a new 14-year peak of 75.9. The industrial group made a new high.

Of the 884 issues traded in today, 556 were higher, 168 lower and 160 unchanged. One hundred sixty-two made new 1945 highs and none new 1945 low.

Air Line a Feature.

Eastern Air Lines again was a star performer, climbing around 10 points. Expansion plans and and talk of splitting the stock, despite company denials, persisted as a buoying influence for this issue. Pan American Airways maintained its equilibrium in the face of the British step restricting this concern's flights to England.

Ahead most of the session were Park & Tilford, American Airlines, Douglas Aircraft, Lehigh Valley Coal, Lehigh Coal & Navigation, Philadelphia & Reading Coal, Warner Bros., Loew's, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, American Smelting, Texas Co., Western Union "A", American Water Works and Union Carbide.

Occasional losers included American Telephone, which had to contend with approaching large-scale rate cuts; Goodrich, Anaconda, American Can and Consolidated Edison. Steels were hesitant.

COTTON PRICES MIXED

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—The cotton futures market was irregular in quiet dealings today. Hedging and commission house profit taking came into the market with deferred contracts at times dropping to losse of as much as 50 cents a bale.

In later dealings, however, the market averaged 25 cents a bale lower to 15 cents higher. Some trade covering accompanied reports of extending exports sales.

Futures closed 50 cents a bale lower to 35 cents higher.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Bond market prices held close to previous levels today with main buying interest centered in a selected list of secondary rails.

New York Central 4s and 4½s moved out ahead of the general run of carrier loans on a fair volume. Florida East Coast 5s trailed close behind and Peoria & Eastern income 4s added modestly to gains of Friday at times.

Others doing better at times included Baltimore & Ohio stamped convertibles of 1960, Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern 5s, Chicago & Alton 3s, Northwestern 4½s, Colorado & Southern 4½s and Rio Grande Western 5s. St. Paul bonds were hesitant.

Industrial and utility bonds kept a steady undertone but there was little activity on either side of the market. American Telephone 3s crossed 150 at one time and Bethlehem Steel 2¾s changed hands around 102. Columbia Gas 5s sold at 104 and National Steel 3s at 105¼. U. S. Governments were neglected.

80 PER CENT INCREASE IN MARKETING OF HOGS

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Dec. 1 (WFA)—An 80 per cent increase of marketings at 12 main livestock centers forced many hogs to sell below ceiling levels for the first time since last January. Locally, prices held up better than at many other points. Slaughter hogs scaling 160 to 240 lbs. closed the period steady to 30c lower, heavier weights 40@55c lower, 140 lbs. down mostly $1 lower and sows weak to 30c lower. Bulk of slaughter hogs this week sold at $14.80 although some 160 to 240 lbs. closed at $14.50@14.60 and heavier weights bulked Friday at $14.25@14.50. Weights below 140 lbs. sold mostly at $14@15.25, late sales $14.50 down. Sows wound up mostly at $13.75 with the week's bulk at $13.75@14.05. Stags mostly earned $14.05.

Slaughter lambs advanced 50@75c to the highest point since last July. Yearlings shared 25c to 50c of the upturns, slaughter ewes 25c. LIVESTOCK ELSEWHERE

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Reports from the yards quoted all livestock weak again today, with hogs 10 to 25c lower at a top of $14 per cwt. Saturday receipts were light, estimated at 500 salable hogs, 1000 cattle and 1000 sheep, but hog receipts were extremely heavy this week and led to the first downturn since last January.

RYE FUTURE IN LOWER SWING ON OPA RULING

Wheat Closes Unchanged to Higher as Did Oats—Corn Market at Ceiling.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Rye futures started strong today but the May delivery dipped rather sharply in late trading on a bearish interpretation of new OPA regulations in connection with rye price ceilings which become effective next June 1.

Oats and wheat were strong most of the time, with buying in wheat influenced by a boost of 1½ cents a bushel in the Government subsidy to millers for wheat ground.

Under the new rye ceiling, as now interpreted, longs who accepted delivery of May rye would find themselves in an extremely difficult competitive situation, since cash rye at the new $1.42 ceiling would be available within a few days thereafter. May rye today sold around $1.78 at one time, 36 cents higher than the June 1 ceiling.

December rye was independently firm most of the time on short-covering influenced somewhat by lack of talk of additional deliveries on the contract. Also, it was believed amounts already delivered were in strong hands.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅛ higher than the previous close, corn was unchanged at $1.18½ ceilings, oats were unchanged to ⅜ up, rye was 2¼ cents lower to ½ higher, and barley was unchanged to ½ off.

There was some liquidation today in wheat, apparently by traders who had purchased it in anticipation of increases of parity prices as of Nov. 15. However, these were announced late yesterday as unchanged. An increase might have caused a boost in the wheat ceilings.

The Board of Trade has received from OPA some interpretations of the new rye ceilings which traders believe will weaken the price of the May futures delivery. It ruled that rye sold after June 1 would be subject to the ceiling price of $1.42, basis Chicago, regardless of whether it was new or old crop rye.

May rye now is about $1.78, 36c above the ceiling effective next June 1. One trade authority said holders of May rye might be anxious to liquidate it because if they held their contract and accepted delivery at the end of May they would have trouble disposing of this cash rye at this high price because buyers would be able to obtain rye within a few days thereafter at the ceiling price of $1.42.

Army Eleven, Seeking 18th Straight, Strongly Favored Over Navy

Coaches Refuse to Make Prediction On Outcome of Contest

MUNICIPAL STADIUM, PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 (AP)—A brisk northeast wind swept across the striped turf as spectators started to arrive two hours early today for the forty-sixth renewal of the Army and Navy football game.

The biting wind spoiled what might have been reasonably comfortable weather for the fans. The skies were blue and the sun shone. The temperature was reported close to the 40-degree mark.

A little more than two hours before game time, workmen removed the tarpaulin from the field, which from the press box appeared to be only slightly on the spongy side.

The huge horseshoe stadium, with bleachers at the open end, has a capacity of slightly under 100,000. Game officials estimated the seated audience would be supplemented by approximately 2000 others made up of stadium employes, special guards, and photographic, sports writing and broadcasting personnel.

Special Sections for President.

Special sections just off the running track a little to the south of the 50-yard line were reserved for President Truman, his family and wereofficial party. Folding chairs were in these sections staked off with gray, black and gold ribbons on the Army side, and blue and gold bunting on the Navy side.

The presence of a chief executive at a service gridiron duel for the first time since prewar days along with the midshipmen brigade and cadet corps accounted for the early arrival of spectators and their steady inflow.

Both the Midshipmen's Brigade and Cadet Corps were on hand. The Middies came by ship from Annapolis and the Cadets by rail from West Point. They were scheduled to parade in snappy formation on the field.

Scalpers' Delight.

The rest of the crowd was made up of spectators from all over the United States who filled the city's hotels to overflowing. Four persons in a room was a common situation. Ticket scalpers had their biggest opportunity in years, reportedly asking all the way from $70 to $100 a pair for tickets marked $4.80 per copy.

What betting there was continued to favor the West Pointers and their 17-game winning streak by a margin of 27 points in the forty-sixth renewal of the rivalry dating back to 1890. Of the games played to date, Army won 23, Navy 19 and three were tied.

Sports writers, who covered both teams in previous games, were more specific. They were emphatic for an Army victory. All said Army would win all the way by from 12 to 57 points. The majority polled anticipate a shutout by the Cadets, who have blanked their last three opponents, 163 to 0.

Prospects were that Blaik would open the game with the same lineup that started the 61-0 trouncing of Pennsylvania two weeks ago. Army's crafty coach used Bob Chabot, a mercury-footed 180-pounder, at right half in the final workout and included him in the announced probable starting lineup in place of Tom McWilliams, who opened the Penn game in that spot.

Chabot Brilliant Against Penn.

Chabot, a senior, has not yet appeared in a starting lineup, but he galloped brilliantly in the Penn game.

But whether it's Chabot or McWilliams, Army's three veteran backs—Quarterback Arnold Tucker with the needle-threading passing arm; Left Half Glenn Davis, the ground-burner, and Felix (Doc) Blanchard, the block-busting fullback, will be in there when the referee blows the starting whistle.

Army's high-scoring backs, behind the most powerful and formidable line in college football today, will be striving to set a new scoring mark for the series and surpass the record 40 to 5 triumph Army hung on Navy in 1903. And, incidentally, they'll be trying to close out their second consecutive all-victorious season.

If Navy springs a surprise, it probably would revolve about its 19-year-old fullback, Joe Bartos. Hagberg regards him as superior to Bob Jenkins, last year's highly-rated name player, even at Jenkins' best. Jenkins was injured in the 1944 game and while he has played some this year he has not regained his previous form.

Hagberg described young Joe as a harder and faster runner than Jenkins, better in the open and a smart player who is among the upper 10 per cent of his class. It was likely Hagberg would spell Bartos with Bob Kelly, the former Notre Dame star.

Bartos' backfield mates were expected to be Tony Minisi, southpaw kicker and passer, and Clyde Scott, speed merchant, at the halves, and Bruce Smith at quarterback.

Harvard Favored to Defeat Yale Eleven in Game Today

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 1 (AP)—A good many better football teams will be playing today (Army and Navy, to name two), but for those who wear that old school tie there's only one game in the nation, the Yale-Harvard contest in the Yale bowl.

Unless it ends in a draw, and the teams appear to be closely enough matched to make that a possibility, the game will spell the difference between a successful or an unsuccessful season for each club. Even though Harvard did not play Princeton, beaten by Yale, the winner will be acclaimed the "Big Three" champion.

The game, first Yale-Harvard contest since 1942, marks the seventieth anniversary of the rivalry between these traditional foes. Of the 61 games played since 1875, Yale has won 34, Harvard 21 and six have been tied.

Harvard has been installed a slight favorite. The advance dope doesn't mean much in this game, however, because both teams can be expected to play over their heads, literally as well as figuratively, since each has an offense based largely on forward passing.

Probable lineups:

Davis and Blanchard Sought for Benefit Game on the Coast

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—William M. Coffman, managing director of the Shrine's East-West football game in San Francisco, said yesterday he would meet with Col. Biff Jones of the U. S. Military Academy in Philadelphia tomorrow to discuss the possibilities of having Glenn Davis and Felix Blanchard play with the East team Jan. 1.

"West Point sent two players to the first East-West game 21 years ago and I hope that Col. Jones sees fit to let Davis and Blanchard participate in the coming game—the one that makes us 21 years old," Coffman said.

Notre Dame's Frank (Boley) Dancewicz and Elmer Angsman, both backs: Penn Tackle George Savitsky and Nick Sacrinty, Wake Forest halfback, accepted invitations to play on the East squad.

Light snow is falling in western South Dakota this morning and light rain and drizzle is reported from eastern South Dakota and the Upper Mississippi Valley; elsewhere in the northern Plains States and adjoining Canadian provinces, there has been no precipitation. Temperatures have fallen somewhat in western South Dakota, eastern Montana and most sections north of the border, but no unseasonably cold weather prevails; temperatures ranging from the middle 30s in South Dakota to slightly below 20 degrees in southern Alberta, and 10 to 15 degrees below zero in the District of Mackenzie.

With the exception of rain in Minnesota tonight, which will probably change to snow on Sunday, there will be no precipitation in the northern states during the next 36 to 48 hours. Temperatures will be somewhat lower tonight, but will show an upward tendency again by Monday.

Keiser Leader In Florida Golf

ORLANDO, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—Young Herman Keiser, the Akron (O.) marksman, led a field of 65 professionals and four amateurs into the third round today of the $10,000 Orlando open golf tournament.

Keiser, released from the Navy two months ago after three years service, carded a 35-34 on the second 18-hole round over the Dubsdread Country Club course yesterday for a half-way mark of 136.

Shouldered out of first place was Pro Les Kennedy of Pawtucket, R. I., who turned in a near-record 18 hole score of 63—eight under par—for the opening round.

The four amateurs still plugging away were Dick Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., Lieut. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., Gene Dahlbender Jr. of Atlanta, and Elmer Prieskorn of Nashville, Tenn. They remained in the contest after the original field had been cut from 168 at the half-way mark.

Tournament officials, ruling at the end of the 36 holes, set a score of 147 as high for professionals and a card of 151 high for amateurs to qualify for the semi-finals.

Trailing Keiser by only one stroke at the end of the second round were Sammy Snead, the Hot Springs (Va.) ace, and Ky Laffoon of Chicago, both with cards of 137.

Orlando's first major golfing event since the war was still anybody's tourney at the half-way point.

Little Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who won the Montgomery (Ala.) golfing contest last week in a play-off with Jug McSpaden of Sanford, Me., had a 36-hole score of 138, which placed him in a tie for third place position with Kennedy. McSpaden had a two-round total of 142.

Navy Defeats Army, 12-to-0, In China Bowl

SHANGHAI, Dec. 1 (AP)—Two touchdowns in the first five minutes gave Navy a 12-0 victory over Army in the first China Bowl football game, played before 10,000 wildly enthusiastic G.I. fans in Canidrome Stadium—a former dog track.

Some of the spectators hadn't seen a football for two years or more. The game had been given a big buildup in the Stars and Stripes, Army newspaper, and Red Cross workers handed out 20,000 hot dogs and doughnuts.

At least 1,500,000 bewildered Chinese watched a three-mile ricksha race preceding the kick-off. The winner: A pretty Swedish brunette, June Nergaard of Shanghai, pulled by a coolie wearing a white sweatshirt with CBI army patches. She represented the Navy port command.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commanding U. S. forces in China, presented Miss Nergaard with a silver cup. The coolie got a floral wreath — racehorse style—and 7,000,000 puppet dollars.

One ricksha entry never did reach the stadium.

Spectators had hardly settled on the cold concrete bleachers when Navy pushed to Army's one-yard line where Joe Condron, Great Neck, N. Y., former Lafayette ball hawk, plunged over.

A few minutes later, Ensign Charley Eikenberg, Boling, Tex., ex-Rice fullback, took Condron's lateral on Army's 45 and sped along the sideline to the goal.

Four Kansas Players On All Opponent Team Selected by Tigers

COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 1 (AP)—The Kansas Jayhawks copped first honors on the big six champion Missouri Tigers' all-opponent football team for 1945 named today.

Selected by the players themselves, the Tigers voted berths to four Kansas stars, while Oklahoma and Iowa State placed three each and Nebraska one.

The Tigers overlooked all-Big Six backs Jack Venable and Johnny West of Oklahoma, and came up with a backfield composed of freshmen George Gear and Dick Bertuzzi, Kansas, and Iowa State's Gene Phelps and Dick Howard.

Fred Lorenz of Nebraska, who failed to win a spot on the All-Big Six team, was given a guard berth.

Madison, Shepard Teams Win in District Baskets

Madison defeated Sigel, 18-15, and the Shepards won from Garfield, 32-23, in Third District Youth Association Basketball games last night. Harry Heck of Shepard paced the scoring with 15 points.

Freeman of the Southern Association club. . . . The CHICAGO WHITE SOX will depart for their spring training base at Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 18, a week earlier than originally scheduled, it was announced by Leslie O'Connor.

Victory Would Put U.S.C. in The Rose Bowl

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1 (AP)—Needing only a victory or a tie to go to the Rose bowl for the third straight time, the Southern California Trojans collide with their dangerous crosstown rivals, the UCLA Bruins, today, in a Pacific Coast conference football finale expected to draw 100,000 fans to Memorial Coliseum.

Favored by at least a touchdown, the Trojans will rely on an attack spearheaded by hard-running Ted Tannehill to keep them in the conference lead and earn them the bid from the faculty representatives of the 10 league members. The vote will be conducted telegraphically after the game.

The Bruins can finish no higher than fourth in the conference standings and likely opponent for Alabama in the event of a UCLA victory is Washington State. The Cougars would be in undisputed first place and the conference leader hasn't missed going to the bowl since 1923.

Billikens Play Camp Grant in Opener Tonight

Quiet, gentlemanly John Flanigan, who wouldn't say gosh-darn or ding-dang if you twisted his wrist, will make his debut as a college basketball coach tonight when St. Louis University opens its basketball season here against the Camp Grant Warriors. The game, which will be played at the Billikens' gymnasium, will begin at 8 o'clock.

Flanigan, a star player himself and an insurance official by profession, will lead onto the hardwood six members of a 1944-45 team that, under Dukes Duford, the athletic director and football coach, won 14 of 17 games. One 1942-43 letterman—Guard Henry Raymond—and several promising freshmen, most of them exceedingly tall, round out the Blue and White squad.

Inexperience may cost the Billikens dearly, for tonight's game will be the first college contest for six of the St. Louis players, including three of the probable starters. But the hope at 3672 West Pine, home of the university athletic offices, is that the Billikens will be able to use Camp Grant, which has played four games, as the springboard to a most successful season in a stiff 22-game schedule.

Camp Grant resumed basketball this season after a two-year layoff. The Warriors of 1942-43 won 32 out of 34 games. Twenty-four of the victories were consecutive, and the opposition included some of the strongest college and service teams in the country.

Will	F.	Schatzman
Jenkins	F.	Krzeminski
Meyer	C.	Masaulay
Rademacher	G.	Raymond
Campbell	G.	Miller

Concordia Plays Miami Tonight

Concordia Seminary's basketball team opposes Miami (O.) University at Washington University Field House tonight. The start is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock.

Herby Heinrichs and Dutch Koenig, who led the Preachers in scoring with 10 points each in the game against Valparaiso last week, will open the contest at the forward positions.

CONCORDIA		MIAMI
Hinrichs, F		Ball, F
Koenig, F		Parry, F
Hintz, C		Daniel, C
Fiege, G		Swartz, G
Oswald, G		Snedgrass, G

Longson Defends 'Title' In 61st Appearance Here

The finish came in 31 minutes and 50 seconds after Villmer had treated the crowd to some rough and ready wrestling when Longson resorted to his usual rowdy tactics.

The crowd was announced as 9028 fans. Other results:

Tuffy Truesdale (184) won from Tommy Felix (186). Body slam. Time, 15:19.

Florida's Racing Season Opens Today

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—The winter racing season opened at Gulfstream Park today with more horses than the stables could hold, enough jockeys for a convention, and the prospect of a record turnout.

Brisk, clear weather offered a fast track for the inaugural nine-race card which drew 146 entries. The featured $5000 Broward Handicap listed 26 thoroughbreds and was split into two sections, with 13 horses each.

Flyers Seek First Victory Over Indianapolis Tonight

By Harold Flachsbart

The high-scoring Indianapolis Capitals, the team the Flyers put in first place in the Western Division standings of the American Hockey League race by gracefully bowing to the Hoosiers in four early-season contests, will be back as the visiting club in tonight's game at the Arena, starting at 8:15 o'clock.

But this time the Flyers hope it will be different. They've added playing strength since last meeting the Caps, and they've generally improved since absorbing 5-1, 7-3, 5-2 and 8-2 shellackings in Saturday and Sunday games on successive weekends about a month ago.

In their last five games, the Flyers have won twice, tied twice and lost only once, while the Caps dropped two of their last three contests. But their warm-up for tonight's play was a 9-4 rout of the Buffalo Bisons only two nights ago.

St. Louis' newest player, Defenseman Sandy Ross, will not be in uniform tonight. Coach Bouncer Taylor announced, because he wants to work with the former Omaha Knight in practice sessions a few more times. Ross reported here yesterday, following his purchase from the parent Detroit Red Wings of the Omaha club.

One of the steadying centers of the Flyers, Dick Kowcinak, is also a doubtful performer because of an attack of intestinal flu which kept him confined in bed yesterday. If Kowcinak isn't in uniform, Bill Thomson or Bill Kendall or George De Felice will break into action on a line with Fido Purpur and George Blake. "Purp," however, has a cold and may also not be ready for full-time duty.

With Defenseman Red Doran suspended, Bill Holouka will team with Jack Dyte as one defense combination and Doug McCaig and Frank Bowman will make up the other.

The Caps, who have tallied 102 goals in 19 games this season—far more than any other club in the circuit—will be handicapped by the loss of Defenseman Hugh Millar. And Jerry Brown, high-scoring center who was such a pain in the neck to the Flyers in previous starts, isn't with the club any more. He's with the National League Red Wings.

Oh yes! If the Flyers win and Cleveland loses to Providence, the St. Louis club would boost itself out of last place in the Western Standings and pass the Barons, now third. If the Flyers win and Cleveland ties its game, the teams would be tied for third in the race.

Thomas May Be "Coach of the Year"

FOOTBALL coach of the year? Well, that $64 question may not be so tough. You couldn't be too far off the beam if you simply named the coach whose team wins the Army-Navy game. . . . Certainly, Comdr. Oscar Hagberg would be labeled "miracle man," in case of Navy's success. . . . On the other hand, Coach Blaik of the Army in winning would only add to the achievement he thus far has registered in producing the eleven that has held the No. 1 post in the nation throughout the season.

And yet, there's another guy you'll have to consider. . . . That's Frank W. Thomas, Notre Dame '23, who has piloted the Alabama U. Crimson Tide to the fore with an unbeaten record to date. . . . If Alabama defeats Mississippi State and then goes on to a Rose Bowl victory, Thomas would rate consideration as coach of the year in a big way.

Blaik and Hagberg, in keeping their teams at the top, were only doing the expected. . . . But few forecast that Alabama would show the really fine power it has displayed this year. . . . If you eliminate from consideration the Army-Navy coaches, as men who inherited super-power, then it will be Thomas who will get your vote if he comes through Jan. 1 unbeaten.

Does Gridiron Betting Need a Red Light?

WHILE professional betting on football today through the medium of handicap cards, circulated each weekend by betting commissioners seems harmless enough, there may be the germ of future trouble therein.

It has been suggested to this writer that danger could arise if some gambler could influence a coach or two, not to throw a game, but to win by a score smaller than the handicap figure, and thus beat the professional betting card.

But that's highly unlikely because such a conspiracy would involve too many persons. . . . And besides, all the coaches we ever knew would knock the daylights out of the person suggesting such manipulation. . . . It's our belief that the "parlay" card will never be the medium of any betting swindle. . . . In the meantime, it has given many persons a lot of fun at the trifling cost of a couple of bucks.

The Gentleman Has Really Got Something.

THAT man Bob Quinn at 75 really has got something. . . . mostly its "insides." . . . Battered by the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune, his life earnings wiped out at one time, he no sooner resigned as head of the Boston Braves' farm system than he received several offers of a "position," not a job. He sidestepped one that would have paid him $12,000 or better and fell into an easier and even better-salaried berth.

At three score and 15 years, that's a real achievement. . . . And Doc Osler once promoted the idea that all men over 60 ought to be chloroformed.

Bob called on this department the other day. . . . We asked him about his connection with the Red Sox—the club that wrecked his fortune. . . . Why did you leave St. Louis to go to Boston, we inquired. He replied:

"No sense, I guess. . . . I think my idea was that since I'd done so well in St. Louis for Mr. Ball, I might as well be doing it for myself. . . . We (that's several associates and I) put several hundred thousand dollars into the deal. . . . I'd made a wonderful life stake during my stay with Mr. Ball. . . . We bought the Red Sox and a few years later I knew we had bought a corpse. We sold out. . . . I hadn't a penny left.

"I think the toughest moment of my life was when I went home to tell my wife.

"'Mother', I said, 'I've sold the club.'

"'Yes, Bob, I heard about it," she said.

"'But you didn't hear the worst—we haven't got one penny.'. . . And you know what she said: 'Well, Bob, that's the way we started out before. You'll come back again.'"

And was Mrs. Bob a prophet!

Tigers Resume Practice Next Week

Squad of 36 Picked for Dallas Trip

COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 1 (AP)—Acting head coach Chauncey Simpson returned to Columbia yesterday to find a cotton bowl berth tacked on to his Missouri Tigers' Big Six championship and promptly named a 36-man squad for the New Year's day classic in Dallas, Tex.

Simpson, who spoke at a high school football banquet in Kansas City Thursday night, said he hoped to take his squad south as soon as the university's Christmas vacation begins Dec. 21.

The Tigers will get back into uniform Monday and work three times a week until their departure for Dallas and their game with Texas' Longhorns, Simpson said. He plans to drill the squad for a little more than a week at Dallas.

Don Faurot, athletic director, announced that 3500 Cotton Bowl tickets have been allotted to Missouri, and that they will be sold from the university ticket office, Rothwell gymnasium, here.

Brown, one of the lightest all-big six players in history of the conference, promised the Tigers will be ready to end Missouri's bowl losing streak at two games.

"Yep, maybe we are big in spots," said man-mountain Kekeris, two-time all-Big Six tackle "but the Longhorns might be big, too, and we are going to dig a little deeper in this one."

Sam B. Shirky, chairman of the committee on intercollegiate athletics, announced this morning that the conference had granted permission for the Tigers' participation in the Bowl game.

Bayless Title Final Tonight

Valley Park reached the consolation final of the seventh annual Bayless Invitational basketball tournament last night by defeating Brentwood, 38 to 31, for the second time of the meet. Valley Park's other victory was in the first round.

The consolation final will be played tonight at 7:30, preliminary to the championship title game between Berkeley and Affton, scheduled at 8:45.

Eureka drubbed Mehlville, 49 to 20, in a game for third place, one of the most lopsided contests of the meet. Eureka players made 22 fouls and Mehlville, 13. David McGraw was leading scorer for Eureka with 14 points.

What, Another?

$41,184,089 Bet at Pimlico Meeting; Colony Boy, Stymie Triumph in Closing Features

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Maine Chance Farm pulled another ace out of the deck yesterday as Colony Boy splashed to victory in the 40th Walden Stakes, while Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs's Stymie romped away with the gruelling two and a half mile Pimlico Cup, co-feature on Pimlico's getaway program.

The crowd of 13,645 persons who braved a cold, windy day for the finale of the Eastern racing season made Bobanet Stable's Marine Victory the favorite in the Walden, mile and a sixteenth test for two-year-olds, after Colony Boy's stablemate, Star Pilot, was scratched.

Not to be outdone by Star Pilot, which captured the Pimlico Futurity last week, Colony Boy and Jockey Johnny Gilbert scored a driving length finish triumph over John Marsch's Mighty Story, with Marine Victory five lengths further away.

Colony Boy, collaring Marine Victory going into the stretch, was timed in 1:50 3-5 under 113 pounds over a heavy track, and paid $9.40 for $2. Star Pilot was scratched because of the track condition and his high impost of 128 pounds, leaving seven to contest the Walden.

But it gave the Maine Chance owner, Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, $23,450 more to spend for Christmas, and boosted the first season earnings of the son of Eight Thirty and Heritage to $32,415.

Stymie, with Bobby Permane up, had top weight of 128 pounds in the Pimlico Cup, longest flat race in the nation, and he just breezed home to win by six lengths after taking charge with half a mile to go.

Pot O'Luck, from Calumet Farm, moved up at the final bend but couldn't stay with Stymie, grabbing second, a length and a half ahead of Walter M. Jeffords' Trymenow, the pacemaker for most of the distance.

Momo Flag, Trymenow and Megogo, the 1944 cup winner, provided the duel for the first two times past the grandstand, with Momo Flag taking a length lead at the two-mile post, but that was all as Permane sent Stymie into action.

The 4-year-old son of Equestrian-Stop Watch stepped the distance in 4:33 1-5, and paid $5.80, $3.20 and $2.40 across the board.

The mutuel handle at Pimlico's longest race meeting was $41,184,089, General Manager Matt Daiger announced. It was a new record, officials explained, for the reason it was double the length of time for any previous meeting. Those in the past have run around 15 days.

Davis Has Gained 837 Yards For Army Eleven This Season

DALLAS, Dec. 1 (AP)—Glenn Davis of mighty Army, will be shooting at two marks today when the Cadets meet Navy in the college football season's grand finale: victory over Army's deepest rival and a new all-time average gain per rushing play.

Davis is on top of the record right now with his 12.1 yards per try in 69 carries that has seen him roll up 837 yards in eight games. If he maintains his present pace—or even a little below it—he can smash his own mark of 11.5 set last year.

That's how the records of Homer F. Cooke Jr., director of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, show it.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma A. and M.'s Bob Fenimore appears to have two statistical titles sewed up and is due to be the third backfielder in modern football history to take a couple of crowns simultaneously.

Fenimore has finished the season with a total offense mark of 1641 yards on 203 plays in eight games. That's 534 yards ahead of Harry Gilmer of Alabama, who is in fourth place, and 551 better than Davis, who is fifth, and they are the only players with games left who could, by even superhuman effort, overtake the flying cowboy.

In rushing Fenimore also is too far ahead to worry about anybody. Bounding Bob has raced to 1048 yards in eight games. Davis is 211 yards behind him and Davis's teammate, Doc Blanchard, is 408 back.

Figures through Nov. 24 games, which covers the season except for a scattering of tilts this weekend, show Herman Wedemeyer of St. Mary's in second place in total offense with 1428 yards in eight games.

In rushing Ollie Cline of Ohio State ranks next to Fenimore with 963 yards in nine games. In forward passing Allen Dekdebrun of Cornell leads in everything with 194 attempts, 90 completions and 1227 yards. Jerry Niles of Iowa is second with 64 completions out of 179 for 900 yards. Leon Joslin of Texas Christian the only one of the six leaders with a game left, has 61 completions for 878 yards.

Steve Contos of Michigan State has passed Reid Moseley of Georgia in pass receiving but Moseley can overtake Steve against Georgia Tech today if he gathers in four throws. Contos has caught 31 for 265 yards, Gene Wilson of Southern Methodist is second with 29 for 277 and Mosley third with 28 for 670.

Zollners Beat All-Stars.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP) — The Fort Wayne Zollners, world professional basketball champions, found the range in the first five minutes of the second half and breezed in for a 63-55 victory over the College All-Stars in Chicago Stadium last night before the largest crowd ever to witness a game in the history of the cage sport—23,912.

Miami Wins From Auburn Eleven, 33-7

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—The University of Miami football team gave its greatest performance of an outstanding year by defeating Auburn last night, 33 to 7, as 21,601 fans roared "we want the Orange Bowl."

The Hurricanes, told by sports writers that the home town team might get the bid if it turned in a big victory, pushed to a 13-7 lead in the third quarter and made the win overwhelming by adding 20 points in the final quarter.

Alton Back on Third All-State Football Team

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP) — Outstanding Illinois high school football players were scattered all over the state the past season.

At any rate, the eight-man all-state board selecting its 1945 eleven thought so after watching players from all parts of the state, exclusive of Chicago and suburban areas, the Chicago Daily News announced today.

Its first team represents 11 schools, and the 33 players named in the board's poll for three all-star teams represent 28 schools.

Outstanding among the all-state selections was Jerry Slack, speedy back of Springfield's Big Twelve championship club. Slack's votes entitled him to the mythical captaincy of the all-star club. Slack was rated by rival coaches as "one of the finest backs seen on a high school gridiron in years" as he used his 185 pounds, his speed and his running skill to spearhead Springfield's title drive.

His running mates aren't far behind him in skill, either. They're Kenneth Gorgal, 165 pounds of dynamite, from St. Bede of Peru at quarterback; Bill Bushell of Lincoln at the other halfback, and Wally Graf of Elgin at fullback.

The line in front of that all-star backfield averages 191 pounds, with Bill Ford, Moline's tackle, the heaviest at 225 pounds, and Kewanee's Adam Lazar, at end, the lightest at 175.

ACTRESS BETTE DAVIS WED TO WILLIAM GRANT SHERRY

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Dec. 1 (AP)—Movie Actress Bette Davis, who had been barred from an Episcopalian wedding by the bishop of the Los Angeles diocese because of a previous divorce, was married yesterday to William Grant Sherry in St. Francis chapel of Riverside's Mission Inn. He is her third husband.

She wore a blue wool suit and a blue breton feathered sailor hat. She disclosed also that she wore a blue lace ruffled garter, one of a pair which her mother had for her wedding last week to Robert Woodbury Palmer of Boston.

NAVY FLYERS TOLD TO DEFEND SELVES IF JAPS ATTACKED

Message of Nov. 28, 1941, Instructed Commanders Not to Act Till After Japanese Had.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Navy instructed some of its commanders Nov. 28, 1941, to "undertake no offensive action until Japan has committed an overt act" but issued orders to its scouting planes in the far Pacific to defend themselves if attacked as they watched Japanese naval movements.

These orders were placed in the record today of the Senate House committee investigating the Pearl Harbor attack on Dec. 7, 1941.

The series of messages disclosed that War Plan 51, calling on warship patrols to sink raiders which threatened or attacked American vessels had been put into effect Aug. 28, 1941, in the areas around the Pacific side of the Panama Canal.

On Oct. 9, War Plan 52, an expansion of War Plan 51, went into effect. The Nov. 28 message, however, which was sent to Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, then commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, among others said that War Plan 52 was not applicable to other areas of the Pacific.

It ended with the warning: "Be prepared to carry out tasks assigned in WPL (War Plan) 46 so far as they apply to Japan in case hostilities occur."

Defensive Information Patrol.

The message file revealed that the late President Roosevelt directed Dec. 2, 1941, the setting up of an American "defensive information patrol" to report Japanese movements in the West China Sea and the Gulf of Siam.

Adm. Thomas Hart, then commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet, was directed to charter three small vessels mounting a small gun and a machine gun and to "observe and report by radio Japanese movements in West China Sea and Gulf of Siam."

Hart was asked to report also "what reconnaissance measures are regularly performed at sea by both Army and Navy, whether by air, surface vessels or submarines and your opinion as to the effectiveness of these latter measures."

Throughout the messages there were warnings that war was coming, but none specifically pointed to Pearl Harbor as the object of the attack. One, for instance, called attention to the fact that Axis powers often began hostilities on Sundays or national holidays.

Jap-Soviet War a Possibility.

A July 3 message from Adm. Harold R. Stark, then Chief of Naval Operations, to the fleet commanders said the Japanese appeared to have determined on their policy and that this "probably involves war in the near future."

The message, however, said it was Stark's opinion that "the neutrality pact with Russia will be abrogated and major military effort will be against their maritime provinces which will probably be toward the end of July, though attack may be deferred until after collapse of European Russia."

On Oct. 16, the Navy sent all merchant ships in the Pacific a warning that "there is a possibility of hostile action by Japan against United States shipping." The message told the ship captains which ports to make and ordered them to avoid usual trade routes.

Convoys Ordered.

On Oct. 17, all trans-Pacific shipping was ordered to keep to the south of the Japanese mandated islands. On Oct. 23, orders were issued to convoy troop transports, ammunition ships and other carriers of important cargo between Honolulu and Manila. The order to convoy all merchant ships came Nov. 25.

On Nov. 23, Kimmel told Stark the Navy Department apparently hadn't taken notice of the magnitude of the job of escorting 22 troopships, including large liners, which the Army wanted to move out of San Francisco by Dec. 10.

Stark Warned of Attack.

Then on Nov. 24, Stark sent to the fleet commanders his message that Japanese negotiations were breaking down and that movements of their forces indicated that "a surprise aggressive movement in any direction, including attack on Philippines or Guam is a possibility."

His Nov. 27 "war warning" to the fleet commanders, paralleled similar Army messages. In that message, he said that indications pointed to "an amphibious expedition against either the Philippines, Thai or Kra peninsula or possibly Borneo."

On Dec. 3, Stark informed the fleet commanders that the Japanese had received instructions to burn their codes at Hongkong, Singapore, Batavia, Manila, Washington and London. On Dec. 4, orders went out to destroy American naval code systems.

HARRY P. ROSECAN DIVORCED

Mrs. Ada S. Rosecan, 5545 Bartmer avenue, obtained a divorce yesterday from Harry P. Rosecan, former prosecuting attorney, in Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson's court. She charged general indignities. Rosecan filed a general denial but did not contest.

They were married Sept. 17, 1911, and separated last Oct. 1.

LINDBERGH SHOT DOWN JAP, CAPTAIN ASSERTS

Few Days Later on Biak His Guns Jammed, Enemy Almost Shot Him, Officer Says.

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 1 (AP) — Charles A. Lindbergh, who was stationed on Biak as a technician, narrowly escaped being shot down when he accompanied a fighter mission over Truk, Capt. Robert de Haven, disclosed yesterday.

De Haven said Lindbergh was with three flyers of the 475th Fighter Group when they encountered Zeroes and Lindbergh's guns jammed. Col. Charles A. MacDonald shot down a Japanese who was drawing a bead on the tail of Lindbergh's plane.

"It was after this that Gen. George C. Kenney, Far Eastern Air Forces commander, ordered that Lindbergh not be permitted to fly combat missions," De Haven added.

De Haven said the incident occurred a few days after a flight over Halmahera, "during which Lindbergh shot down a Nip." He identified Col. MacDonald as commanding officer of the 475th.

Kenney Doesn't Know About It if Lindbergh Shot Down Jap.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the Far Eastern Air Force, said yesterday that "there are no records" of Charles A. Lindbergh shooting down any Japanese planes in the Pacific.

Kenney praised the "superb job" which he said Lindbergh did in that theater as a volunteer civilian instructor in teaching Army fighter pilots to get additional range out of their planes.

Representative Mason (Rep.), Illinois, in a statement in the Congressional Record credited Lindberg with shooting down "several" Japanese planes, while flying on combat fighter sweeps.

He added that the Pacific air front was too long for him personally to know everything that was going on, but he repeated that there are no records of Lindbergh's scoring any "kills."

ROUGH HUDSON DELAYS DEBARKING OF TROOPS

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—The 1543 soldiers returned from Europe aboard the troopship Coaldale Victory finally debarked today, after 24 hours of waiting in the stormy Hudson River.

The ship, bearing a load of European veterans from Le Havre, France, was scheduled to unload at Camp Shanks, 17 miles north of here, at 9 a. m. yesterday. It arrived on time, but high winds churned the river waters to such an extent that the men had to be kept aboard.

Today the ship was brought to a pier in New York, where it docked at 9 a. m., and the men were taken to Camp Shanks in two railroad trains.

Two other troopships scheduled to unload at Camp Shanks today also were diverted to New York. They were the Aiken Victory from Antwerp, with 1667 men aboard, and the Sheepshead Bay from Le Havre, with 1560 men. These men, too, were loaded on trains for Camp Shanks.

More than 35,000 American troops from several theaters of war are due to debark today from 24 transports at three East Coast ports.

At four West Coast ports, more than 8000 service personnel are scheduled to arrive aboard 35 vessels from the Pacific.

At New York: Santa Rosa from Karachi, 2446 troops including 236th Engineer Combat Battalion; 3276th and 3277th Quartermaster Clearing Platoons and miscellaneous troops. N.Y.U. JAP DIET REJECTS DEMAND TO OUST ITS WAR LEADERS

TOKYO, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Japanese House of Representatives overrode today a demand that wartime leaders of the Diet resign and Premier Baron Kijuro Shidehara urged calmness in the government's own investigation of war responsibility.

Shunting aside a Liberal party resolution calling on Diet members who helped bring on hostilities to resign without delay, the House gave overwhelming approval, Kyodo news agency said, to a Progressive party resolution assailing all who joined "militarists and bureaucrats" in promoting the war. Of Diet members, however, the resolution asked only that they "silently reflect on their past deeds."

Calls for Tolerance.

Shidehara told the House of Peers that "it is a grave matter to try to judge others. Those who were responsible for the war have committed serious blunders, but in so doing they had no intention of betraying their country. We must deal with the question with tolerance and calmness."

Investigations to be made by the cabinet's war inquiry commission into the causes of war—and of defeat—will clarify the entire situation, Shidehara said.

On another question asked from the floor as to whether Japan's new democracy shall be modeled after that of Britain or the United States, Shidehara remained silent.

Seek to Fix Blame.

Some Diet members advanced the idea of establishing blame not only for those responsible for starting the war—but also those who helped lose it.

In the House of Representatives Liberal and Progressive party members declared blame should be extended to "those Diet members who failed to co-operate in the war effort during hostilities, thereby causing the nation to be defeated," Kyodo reported.

While Japan's revived Communist party opened its first rally in 20 years, a demand was voiced in the House of Peers for legislation forbidding agitation for elimination of the emperor system, a major Communist plank.

Kyodo said the public was barred as 500 carefully-identified delegates were admitted to the first session of the two-day Communist congress.

Militarists Rebuffed.

Meanwhile, with the dissolution of the War and Navy ministries, the Government has decided to staff their successors, the first and second demobilization ministries, entirely with civilians. Previously there had been talk of retaining miltary staffs.

The Foreign Office was reported drafting plans for establishing a reparations bureau to execute Japanese payments to be assessed against Nippon. Simultaneously the Foreign Office planned further reorganization and streamlining in conformance with a recent American directive suspending diplomatic functions.

With an eye to alleviating winter suffering, Allied authorities granted the Japanese permission to use 4,000,000 pounds of shortcut silk fiber for mixture with other textiles in the manufacture of civilian clothing and blankets.

45 DEAD IN WAKE OF STORM IN NORTHEASTERN STATES

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—A two-day storm which resulted in the deaths of at least 45 persons in the northeastern section of the nation moved slowly out to sea today. It left in its wake snow and ice, disrupted communications and considerable coastal damage from high tides and winds of gale force.

Hundreds of families, whose residences had been isolated by tides, were temporarily homeless in the six-state New England area.

Coast Guardemen said two small vessels were missing with 11 men. The New Bedford dragger Tarra, carrying a crew of 10, last was heard from east of Nantucket, Mass. A 37-foot cabin cruiser was last reported adrift off Newport, R. I., with its owner, Frank W. Pierso. The Boston lightship was torn adrift.

INJUNCTION ORDERS PICKETS NOT TO BAR CERTAIN WORKERS

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec 1 (AP)—The West Virginia Supreme Court, by a 3-to-2 decision, granted the International Nickel Co. an injunction yesterday restraining United Mine Workers' District 50 pickets from barring "free access" of certain workers to its strike-bound Huntington plant.

It was explained that the order does not prevent "peaceful picketing" at the plant, closed for 11 days in a new contract dispute.

The company contended that refusal of pickets to permit maintenance and clerical workers to pass through the lines had resulted in heavy damage to untended machinery.

ETHRIDGE DENIES HE HAD TO GET OUT OF ROMANIA

ROME, Dec. 1 (AP)—Mark Ethridge prepared today to depart by plane for Washington after completing a mission to Romania and Bulgaria as special consultant for Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

"There's nothing to it," Ethridge said.

Union Says Auto Strike Is Not a Labor Dispute Under the Law.

DETROIT, Dec. 1 (AP).—The United Automobile Workers (CIO), seeking unemployment compensation for war veterans idle in the General Motors strike, contended yesterday that the strike was not a "labor dispute" within the meaning of the G. I. Bill of Rights.

At a hearing before the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission and Cyril Smith, administrator here of the G. I. bill, Attorney Ernest C. Goodman said the strike resulted from General Motors' "refusal to comply with the Labor Relations Act's collective bargaining obligations."

Goodman said the union's charge of unfair labor practices against the corporation, recently filed with the National Labor Relations Board, was evidence for the union's stand on the unemployment pay issue.

In the NLRB case the union charges that General Motors violated the law by refusing to bargain "in good faith." The union's petition has yet to be heard.

The union asserted that 14,000 Michigan veterans, employed by General Motors, would lose unemployment benefits under a ruling of the state commission that they are ineligible because they have a "direct" interest in the strike.

ICKES AND NAVY GIVE VIEWS ON OIL POLICY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Petroleum Administrator Ickes and Navy officials placed before a Senate oil investigating committee yesterday their views on a national oil policy and needs of the postwar oil industry.

Ickes told the committee that:

1. He does not think this nation will run out of oil unless "we permit ourselves to run out."

2. Domestic productive capacity must be developed in every practicable way, including synthetic liquid fuel manufacture.

3. The United States must assure itself of access to foreign oil resources.

4. A single agency should administer all phases of oil and gas in all federal lands including the continental shelf.

5. The revised British-American oil agreement is not a cartel; if the agreement is made to work, it can go a long way toward an era of peace in international relations.

Commodore W. G. Greenman, director of naval petroleum reserves, said that in establishing a national policy it is proposed that future military requirements be correlated with those of industry, and that the Navy explore its naval reserves to determine their volumetric content and sustained productive capacity.

Ralph K. Davies, deputy petroleum administrator, said that the government should encourage continuous strong American position in foreign oil fields. The British-American treaty was a forward step along that line, he said.

JAP PLANE ENGINES FOUND HIDDEN BEHIND TEMPLE WALL

KYOTO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Kenneth F. Kramer of the Twenty-fourth Division, spotted a piece of machinery through a break in the wall of a Japanese temple. Investigating, he discovered 20 new aircraft engines.

Other concealment of military materiel has been reported, including large quantities of aircraft tools and parts for fabricating wings and fuselages, and many nearly completed wing sections hidden in a cotton mill at Imbari.

UNION SUED FOR $1,000,000 OVER STRIKE CLOSING PLANT

GENEVA, Ill., Dec. 1 (AP)—The Austin-Western Co. of Aurora, Ill., manufacturers of road grading machinery, filed a $1,000,000 damage suit in circuit court yesterday against four AFL unions whose members went on strike Nov. 24, closing the company's plant.

The suit sought $500,000 in actual damages and $500,000 punitive damages.

The company, which has set up temporary offices in two Aurora hotels, alleged that pickets were allowing no one to enter the plant without a pass signed by the strike chairman.

BATTLESHIP REVERSES COURSE TO PICK UP SICK SEAMAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1 (AP)—The battleship West Virginia, carrying 2116 Navy men home for discharge, reached San Francisco yesterday 19 hours late because it turned back to pick up an ill merchant seaman from a tanker.

The patient was Joseph Lopez, 19 years old, of San Antonio, Tex., in serious condition from abscessed tonsils.

FALSE REPORT CITED AS CAUSING HAWAII RIOT

Sailors Heard Two Navy Men Had Been Killed, Attorney General Says.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—A Hawaii attorney general's report says that four days before the recent bloody Honolulu riot a Navy officer wanted to let sailors avenge themselves on city "hoodlums."

The report on the Nov. 12 riot of sailors from the Honolulu naval air station was addressed to Gov. I. M. Stainback of Hawaii. It was presented here to the House Territories Committee today by Delegate J. R. Farrington.

Acting Attorney General Rhoda V. Lewis said in the report that an air station public relations officer advised the Honolulu police chief that four sailors had been beaten by hoodlums in a certain city area.

The report said the officer suggested that it would "be a good idea to let the sailors go out and clean up that gang."

"Chief (of Police) Gabrielson told him absolutely no, that when a gang goes out there are always innocent people hurt, that the best thing to do would be to let the police handle it."

The report said an extra patrolman was posted and that nothing happened until four nights later when 750 sailors marched into the area armed with sticks, clubs, bars and knives.

"The sailors in the mob told the police officers that two sailors had been killed that night, which was not the truth," the report continued. "The source of that rumor was not discovered."

Lewis said police records show responsibility for Honolulu fights rest about equally between service men and civilians. He added:

"Furthermore, there is no evidence that, aside from the riot of the sailors . . . anything has occurred which is unusual, considering the size of the city, the large number of men as compared with women, the free availability of liquor, and the fact that since the surrender of Japan . . . many men of the armed forces have little to do except await transportation home."

3 FRENCH PARTIES SUGGEST CHANGES IN BANK PROPOSAL

PARIS, Dec. 1 (AP)—France's three major parties submitted counter-proposals today to the government's project for the nationalization of banks and credits.

Spokesmen for the Communists, Socialists and the Popular Republican Movement (MRP) appeared before the assembly-appointed Finance Commission and outlined various modifications. Earlier the MRP had expressed general approval of the government plan, but urged that its application to the four great "national banks" be speeded up.

The program envisages the immediate nationalization of the Banque de France, whose shareholders would be reimbursed with negotiable bonds. Purchase of stock in the four other banks affected would be spread over a 50-year period, beginning Jan. 1, 1947.

MAJ. EDWARD L. HALL DIES AFTER BEING HURT IN CRASH

Maj. Edward L. Hall of Jefferson Barracks died at City Hospital last night of head injuries suffered early Sunday when the automobile he was driving collided with another at Spring avenue and Meramec street.

The driver of the other car, Donald L. Wiehe, 950 Dover place, told police that Maj. Hall, westbound on Meramec, failed to observe a major stop sign. He was thrown from the machine by the impact. Wiehe and three passengers with him were unhurt.

Maj. Hall, 45 years old, had been stationed at the Jefferson Barracks commissary office since going on active duty in December, 1940. Before that, as a staff sergeant, he had been stationed in the St. Louis office of the Organized Reserve, in the Federal Building, for 14 years. Asks a Husband---

Why Can't Women's Styles Stand Still?

By Henry McLemore

AS a man who has worn out at least 50 grindstones by keeping his nose to them, I wish to high Heaven that something could be done about women's clothes.

My grindstone bill is terrific, even though I get them wholesale through a friend, and the chief reason for this is the foolish fads and fancies of female attire.

Wouldn't it be possible for someone to design a sensible, practical, all-round, all-year sort of get-up for women? Is it necessary, for fashions to change so rapidly that a woman runs the risk of having her dress go out of style while she is crossing a living room to speak to a friend?

I HAVE A FRIEND who worked nights in a jute mill last year in order to buy his wife a nice coat. It was a pretty coat, warm, and with a touch of under-arm of mink on the collar. She was proud as could be of it, as was her husband, and he was confident that she was fixed for life, insofar as a coat was concerned. The coat is as good as new this season, but do you think she can wear it? No, and again no. The sleeves are all wrong to start with. Last season, the bagatelle or rathskeller or whatever type sleeves it had, were the last word. But this year, coats must have the new laissez-faire or O'brien potatoes or some other type of sleeves. And as for the under-arm of mink collar, it is as out of fashion as the linen duster. This season the smart fur is inner-ear of muskrat, or top-of-nose of hyena, or something else.

THE SAME is true of dresses. The neckline of a year ago, which was as smart as a roomful of Quiz Kids at that time, won't do now. To be seen in it would brand a woman as the type who makes her own shoes, uses marked cards at bridge, and loaded dice at parcheesi.

Silhouette is another horrid word for men who buy clothes for women. Fashion designers simply won't make up their minds what they want women to look like. One year it is smart for them to have the graceful outline of a blimp. The next, they must be thin as a walking stick. The next, they must combine the best features of Marie Antoinette and the third witch from the right in the opening scene of Macbeth.

As for the length of women's dresses, skirts, etc., only a mad man would guess from season to season. The length varies as much as that of a window shade in a boarding house.

ALL OF THIS means that nothing a woman buys in the way of clothes is permanent. Suppose men's clothes changed as much as those of the gals do. If they did, a family wouldn't have enough left over after purchasing clothes to buy a pack of cigarettes. Mama and Papa would have to share a pipe.

I know the kind of all-round outfit I would like to design for women. It would have a stainless steel blouse, with copper trimmings. The skirt would be battleship gray and made of battleship armor plate. The shoes to match this outfit would be made of brick, and stockings would be of durable teakwood. Girdles would be made of girders, and her two hats would be made of durable stuff—cast iron for daytime wear, and aluminum for evening.

But just as sure as this sort of outfit was adopted, some construction company—Kaiser or Higgins—would come along with a new and different style in a few months.

The "New" Suit

By Christopher Billopp

SUPPOSE a friend should take a look at you and remark: "That's a nice new suit you have on. Where did you get it?"

Should you reply "yes," that you like it yourself, that in the matter of clothes you always make it a point to keep in good condition, regardless of expense, and that you only patronize the best and most fashionable tailor?

Or should you confess that it is a suit you bought so many years ago you have forgotten just when? Should you tell him you got it at a sale in an off season at a greatly reduced price, and that the alterations did not quite fit it to your figure?

Should you point to the place on the left knee of the trousers that is just about to wear through? Should you show him where the cuffs of the sleeves are beginning to fray?

Should you pull the right front trouser pocket inside out so that he can see the hole in it and explain to him that you can carry change only in the left front trouser pocket?

Should you lift up your coat so that he can get a look at the shine on the seat of your trousers, or give him a closer view of the lining of the coat which is being held in place by a safety pin?

Should you direct his attention to the three or four holes burned in the coat and the trousers, and to the scorched spot on the waistcoat where you dropped a burning match on it?

And should you cap the climax by stating that you can think of only two reasons for his complimentary remark. Either he was just trying to be polite or else advancing years have seriously impaired his eyesight?

These are interior views of the St. Louis County courthouse and jail, which will be open tomorrow from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. to permit citizens to inspect them before voting Tuesday on a $1,650,000 bond proposal for a new structure. BERN, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Swiss Federal Council has authorized the opening of all safety deposit boxes and other depositories in an effort to ferret out Axis funds in Switzerland.

The council, chief executive branch of the Swiss Government, gave the authority to the Swiss clearing house, which is charged with seeking out Axis properties hidden in Switzerland. On: Simplicity

The biggest thrill I've had in a long time was the day we took our car out of the garage and asked the attendant to "fill 'er up."

Gasoline rationing did one good thing for me. It made me realize what fun it is to drive with the family and just enjoy the rich colors of the Autumn countryside.

Tonight's play by Thornton Wilder points up my own reaction to this first post-rationing ride. It's so typically "family," so fundamentally American.

Actually I think the war helped many of us to appreciate simple things—the unexpected thoughtfulness of a neighbor, the discovery that food picked from your own garden is twice as delicious because of the work you yourself put into its cultivation. Let's hope we don't forget the good things we've learned in a world of postwar materialism.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press.

Repeated by Request.

RATON, N.M.—Those attending an Elks memorial service in Santa Fe today heard a 23-year-old speech. Asked on short notice to make the address, Daniel K. Sadler, New Mexico Supreme Court justice, recalled he gave a similar address in his home town of Raton on the same date in 1922.

By telephone Sadler arranged to have the 1922 text copied from newspaper files.

Something Bobs Up.

SAND SPRINGS, Okla.—Steve Garoutte's young bird dog came down on a point and the hunter prepared to fire at rising quail. Instead of birds, however, a 28-pound bobcat bounded from the brush and Garoutte's partner, Leroy Everett, brought it down with a blast from his shotgun.

Pulls Wool Over Their Eyes.

HARRISBURG, Ill. — Rural Postman Bill Land suspects deer in this vicinity are getting smarter. He found a six-point buck with a herd of grazing sheep in a barn lot—where the hunters didn't think to look.

12 ARRESTED IN POLICY RAID

Twelve Negroes were arrested last night in a poolroom at 11 South Ewing avenue, where police reported finding policy sheets and other lottery paraphernalia. They were booked for appearance in Police Court Tuesday.

Th poolroom proprietor told police the material had been "turned over to me by somebody else." The other 11 men admitted being policy writers, police said.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM a 47-year-old woman, and unmarried. I am very much in love with a man 18 years my senior. He told me one time that he loves me and a number of times that he would marry me except he feels he is too old for me. This man and I don't go out regularly together, but go out at times in company with his sister who is an old and dear friend. Then again he says he doesn't intend to ever marry but for the past seven or eight years he has been going with a woman even several years younger than I am. I try to put this man out of my mind, but being a friend of his sister we meet again and again, and each meeting reviews everything. His sister would like to meet this other woman he has dated so long and find out what she's like. She would like for him to marry me. But whenever she mentions these matters to him he gets very angry and she doesn't get anywhere. How can I make this man stop thinking himself too old for me, or how can I forget him? CONFUSED.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

Sometimes when a woman is lonely, feels she is becoming middle-aged and would like very much to marry, she reads into a friendship something which does not exist. I am inclined to believe from your letter that this man more likely thinks of you as his sister's friend, feels kindly toward you but has no thought of marrying you. With the two of you the age you are I doubt that he would hesitate on the ground of age difference. That just makes a nice loophole for him. If he were the marrying kind he would doubtless have married the other woman you mention long ago. You will be wise to stop thinking of him in the terms of an eligible male, consider him your best friend's brother and let it go at that. If you want to marry reach out toward people, join mixed organizations and you may meet a man of suitable age who will appreciate you and want to spend his remaining days with you.

Dear Martha Carr:

WE ARE TWINS age 16. Our parents quarrel all the time and every time our little sister age four opens her mouth she gets slapped. We work every night after school and all day Saturdays. All the money we make we have to give our mother and she gives us back a dime every once in a while. We hardly ever get to shows or dances or out on group dates because we always have to stay home and see little sister gets to bed on time. Then our own bed time is so early. Do you think girls of 16 should still have to be in bed by nine p.m.? We can't seem to get anywhere when we talk to our parents. What can we do? SISTERS.

Sometimes you teen-agers write me after a big family row and life looks very black and you think you are the most abused girls or boys in the world. No sooner have you mailed the letter than life begins to look up again and all is serene. So—are you sure the picture is as black as you paint it? Are you sure you don't get a quarter quite often instead of a mere dime once in a blue moon? Isn't there ever anyone to put little sister to bed but you? Surely mother is there sometimes. I think if you talked nicely to your parents they might let you stay up till ten instead of nine, providing you are in good health. If you aren't strong one more hour of beauty sleep and real rest can count for a lot. If you are still feeling depressed talk matters over with your parents some day when matters have quieted down and you are all in a calm frame of mind. Then I believe you'll get somewhere.

IN ANSWER TO "Mrs. G.": A widow is still Mrs. John Smith for the rets of her life, unless she marries again.

By Emily Post

EXCEPT by writing this public letter to every registered nurse who may happen to see this column, I am really at a loss to know what to do to disprove a falsehood concerning my attitude toward trained nurses that every now and then springs up, as wickedly and as mysteriously as it originated. The story—never definite as to what it came from—is that I made a rude and belittling remark about trained nurses. The perplexing part of it is that no one has ever been able to tell me what I am supposed to have said, or to whom or when or where! The rumor seems to rise in training schools and the first I hear of it is a request for retraction. The unfair angle of the whole situation is that every one who knows me at all well, knows that no one could possibly have a higher regard than I have for this beautiful profession and for the wonderful women who represent it.

Perhaps the best proof I can give of my real attitude is to make public these facts:

Many years ago—long before Nurse's Aides had been thought of—I served alone as a "Nurse's Helper" in the women's surgical ward of Roosevelt Hospital in New York City for almost three years. My motive in doing this was my eagerness to do something to show my deep gratitude for the skilled and tender nursing care to which I owed my life after an almost record-holding sequence of illnesses.

DEAR MRS. POST: I'm a soldier without enough points to go home. I've just had word that my father, who has been a widower for five years, is going to marry a widow with a grown-up family. I've written congratulating him and all that sort of thing, but I have a feeling that I should do something about his future bride. I never have met her so I don't know whether I could say I think it's great, although my sister seems to think it is all right. Will you tell me what to do and then also how to do it?

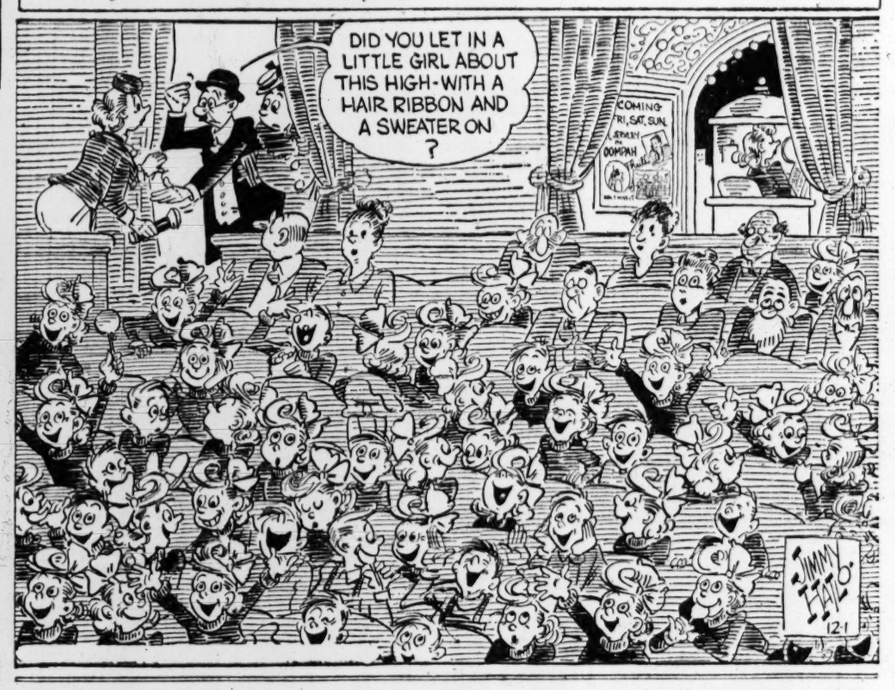

Answer: It would be very nice, indeed, if you would write to her and say that you are sorry you can't get home in time for the wedding, but you are looking forward to meeting her and that you wish her and your father every happiness.

DEAR MRS. POST: At a recent wedding and in a current moving picture, the donor's cards were displayed on the wedding gifts. Years ago, it was considered the height of bad taste to display the cards. Has the ruling been changed and if so, why?

Answer: It depends on the number of present more than on when or where. At very big weddings (in New York or in London, for example), cards practically always are displayed. In other words, when the gifts number several hundred, it is impossible to expect the bride to tell people who have come to view the presents who sent what. At a very small wedding where the presents are not numerous, cards usually are left off because putting them on seems rather pretentious.

They'll Do It Every Time -:- By Jimmy Hatlo

Child Needs Firm Hand Of Teacher

By Angelo Patri

THE child as the center of the school was a new and shining idea. To be sure he always had been, else why the school? But the new idea emphasized the importance of the child's wish and will make them the center of the day's work. Perhaps this wasn't the intention but that was what, in many instances, happened.

In the old school, the child sat silently in his bench and took whatever the teacher gave him whether that was a thrashing or a list of words to memorize. The child had nothing to say, no choice, no voice in the day's routine, not even at recess.

IF THE TEACHER was wise, kind, understanding, the children learned their lessons and along with them acquired something of the quality of the teacher's soul, which was of extreme importance. Lessons can be learned out of a book but spiritual qualities come by experience and personal contacts with spiritual things. The center of the school, and of the curriculum was and is the teacher.

The new idea pushed the teacher into the background if not out of the scheme altogether. The child was to choose what he wanted to do, and be perfectly free in doing so. Being a child and by nature restless, his span of attention brief, his self control scarcely developed, he flitted from here to there and settled on nothing long enough to get anywhere with it. Only when the teacher took hold, taught, controlled and encouraged him did he learn enough to reach the standard of the higher schools toward which he was headed.

SCHOOLS IN WHICH this idea predominated called themselves progressive. They were not progressive at all. They were retrogressive. The schools that said, "Children need more opportunity for action, more room for experience, more encouragement for educative self expression," moved over to give the children room but they held the teacher responsible for what happened to the children in his care.

The school is first of all, the teacher. When the teacher is intelligent, professionally skilled, a leader who speaks with authority, born of a disciplined experienced soul, he is real and the children will follow him. And what is more, they will be free, happy and good to live among.

BROADWAY By Walter Winchell

The Big City.

THE iron coughing of trolleys as they rumble from corner to corner. . . . New York service men (just back from overseas) strolling along Bright Light Lane and warming their spirits over familiar sights. . . . The sunrise festival of vivid hues celebrating the birth of a new day. . . . Broadway's visual poetry punctuated by skyscraper exclamation points. . . . Hot-dawg addicts gulping the delicacy as if it was the last h. d. on earth. . . . The numbing surgery of a comely waitress' sharp glare cutting off a Romeo's spiel. . . . Cabbies bullying their way through traffic. . . . A beanery with a caviar tag: Rendezvous de Leon. . . . Film boxoffices growing tails of waiting patrons blocks long. . . . Shadows scribbling grotesque murals across the street.

★ ★ ★

THE FURRY WAVES of mink-coated first-nighters drowning a theater in luxury. . . . Side-street hotels bruised with age, where misery goes to find company. . . . Weary night-workers squatting on the masses' throne—a subway seat. Their cob-webbed orbs peer at each other as if they weren't there. . . . The well-heeled set pulling themselves up by their own booty. . . . Salesgals tucking the frayed edges of their patience under a smile and pinning it with a dimple. . . . A deep, blue-eyed noon sky twinkling with sunshine, scarcely noticed by lunch-hourites.

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A SCOTCHMAN with the romantic name of Bruce Wallace made history at London's famous Scotland Yard shortly before the war. He actually demanded an interview with the head of the Yard to report that he had lost a shilling on Old Bond street and that he had been unable to find it.

The Scotland Yard official fell into the spirit of the occasion and assured him that the entire London police force would be put on the job.

That night, as fate would have it, something went wrong with one of the gas pipes under Old Bond street and 50 workmen were dispatched to locate the source of the trouble. They dug a ditch six feet wide straight across Old Bond street, stopping traffic completely, of course, and exposing all the underground pipes to the open air. Early in the morning, the bereaved Scotchman appeared on the scene, took one look at the repair work in progress, and shook his head with reluctant approval. "I must say one thing for the rascals," he admitted. "They're thorough."

Add evaporated milk and again bring to boiling point. Add the cooked cabbage and paprika. Turn into a buttered baking dish. Cover with cornflakes mixed gently with two tablespoons melted butter or margarine and bake at 350 degrees until brown. Cheese may be added to cornflakes if you so desire.

Economical Menus for Tomorrow

By Meta Given

IT is wonderful what the use of a little imagination can do to the simple old standby foods. Take a look at this Puffy French Toast recipe. Usually the bread is allowed to stand in an egg milk mixture until almost soaked through, then the slices are lifted out and pan fried to a luscious brown on both sides. Then the mixture is served with syrup or some other sweet. Here we make a sandwich of the bread with a brown sugar and butter filling, these are dipped into a batter similar to that used in baking pancakes, and this thick arrangement is fried as is the typical French toast. The result is a toasty puffy sandwich with some of the desired sweetness already on tap. A dusting of confectioners sugar supplies anything that is to be desired.

Puffy French Toast.

Twelve slices day-old bread, butter, three-fourths cup brown sugar, one and three-fourth cup sifted all-purpose flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one one-fourth teaspoon baking powder, two eggs, separated; one cup milk, three tablespoons melted butter, fat for frying.

Spread each slice of bread with butter and sprinkle half of the slices with brown sugar, two tablespoons to a slice. Cover with remaining buttered slices and cut into quarters. Beat egg whites until stiff. Sift dry ingredients into bowl. Drop egg yolks on to flour mixture, then add milk and butter. Beat with a dover beater until smooth. Fold in beaten egg whites. Dip each sandwich into batter until well-covered. Melt fat in skillet to a depth of two inches. Heat and fry sandwiches over medium heat until browned on each side. Turn once during cooking. Serve with confectioners sugar if desired. Four servings.

Menus for Sunday.

Cranberry Jelly.

The tangiest flavored, most colorful fruit obtainable at this season is cranberries. If you are fond of cranberries, you should be pleased with them as cranberry jelly. Cook 4 cups of cranberries in one and one-half cups water in a covered granite pan and gently cook for 10 minutes, or until all the skins pop open. Mash through a coarse sieve or colander. Add two cups sugar and a dash of salt to the puree'd cranberries and stir until dissolved. Bring to a boil and boil for four minutes. Put into a five-cup mold. Allow to cool at room temperatures, then chill in refrigerator. Unmold and serve. Makes four to four and one-half cups cranberry jell.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

THE so-called defenders in today's deal could not have thrown away more tricks if they had tried to!

North, dealer.

	♠K86 ♥Q753 ♦A10752 ♣4

The defensive play was not the only weird item in connection with this deal—the bidding too was scarcely along conservative lines. It was:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 diamond	Double
2 clubs	Pass	2 diamonds	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

South's opening, even though third-hand, was somewhat remarkable, and he should have passed to North's warning bid of two clubs.

West opened the club king, and when East started an echo with the ten, laid down the club ace. South ruffed, and probably with a feeling of utter helplessness, led the heart queen. West ducking, East won and returned his lowest spade. The ten won, and West now led another club, his object being to have East ruff high and thereby force high trumps from the declarer, which would promote West's trump holding. Actually, if East had ruffed with the queen it would have been a good idea, but East wasn't having any of that—he refused to "squander" any trump higher than necessary. South over-ruffed East's four-spot and led another heart. West, in with the blank ace, persisted with his plan, leading his last club, and when East ruffed with the six, declarer gravely over-ruffed with the seven!

Already, declarer had taken more tricks than he might have won in the entire play, and the defenders weren't yet finished with their orgy of altruism! South exited with a heart. West discarded a spade, and East, winning the trick, returned a heart to let his partner get in a small trump by over-ruffing the dummy! Having ruffed with the eight, West now laid down the ace and another spade, giving South the king! South's ace of trumps held the penalty to 800 points, as against the 1400 or 1700 set that was so extremely easy for East-West to collect.

Your Stars -o- By Marion Drew

Sun in Sagittarius.

General Tendencies—Things are still going strong for all activity, both mental and physical, which includes travel, sports, technical skill and a fine power of discussion and argument. Tomorrow is Sunday, but the trend of the times makes it seem like one of the most positive days of the week. There is a great interest in business and financial matters for tomorrow and not nearly the good results which might come about from the purely romantic side of life. Maybe a long walk in a nipping breeze would work off some of this surplus.

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday.

All in all, the year 1946 should go rather well for you. I know that you are impatient by nature and want everything to happen all at once, but just remember that there are many other people in the world who do not move as quickly as you do, so wait for them. The results of your decisions will catch up with you about next fall. Please don't try to push them to final endings during the early spring. There is plenty of time for you to prepare the way for better returns.

Tomorrow's Watchword — We are supposed to give a thought to the virtue prudence, that quality which the vicar of Wakefield said was usually the only virtue left to us in old age. There are many proverbs about prudence, one of them being "Three things a prudent man never shows: The bottom of his purse, the bottom of his knowledge and the bottom of his heart." That's Welsh. An American version is: Put all your eggs in one basket—then watch the basket.

WHAT TO EXPECT MONDAY.
Sun in Sagittarius.

General Tendencies — Monday will be the beginning of a busy week—doubters please notice the afternoon hours. It will be hard to keep to fixed ways of doing business or to follow settled plans. The tendency is toward sudden jumps of both mind and body, and these rarely include any romantic notions in their flight. If you want an evening for a heavy date, then wait until the end of the week since the enormous pressure of new work just now leaves little room for the affections.

If Monday Is Your Birthday.

Without doubt, you have experienced changes during the past year. It is my conviction that you are still in the midst of them and can expect many new friends, surroundings and even a change of work or residence before the end of 1946. All these things look good, however, no matter how unexpected they may be or how unusual in detail. If you are a typical Sagittarian, this chance for exploration of new fields of fancy will be exactly what you like, but be a little careful during March.

Tomorrow's Watchword — The quest of Sagittarius is always for freedom. They like the spirit of the song, "Don't Fence Me In." This idea would appeal to them, too—"A man can be free even within prison walls. Freedom is something spiritual. Whoever has once had it, can never lose it. There are some people who are never free outside a prison. The body can be bound with chains, but the spirit never." Leon Blum also voiced this feeling when he said that the free man is he who does not fear to go to the end of his thoughts.

Says Wives Should Earn Their Keep

By Elsie Robinson

NOTHING surprises or enrages the average wife more than to tell her that it's up to her to earn her keep, like any other worker. For all women believe that they confer the greatest possible favor upon a man when they marry him and regard any subsequent chores as additional condescension.

Nor can you blame them for this attitude. They've been trained into it since birth. To begin with, their parents treated them like prize packages and gave them special concessions and exemptions which were denied to their little brothers.

Then the movies and magazines took up the easy task of convincing them that they were God's greatest gift to humanity. Lastly devoted lovers vowed themselves blue in the face and hocked their watches to prove the same point. No wonder that the dear girl when she married felt that she was doing plenty for the big boy.

Then the honeymoon wanes and the new husband begins to complain because vest buttons are missing and meals aren't on time. Naturally the bride is amazed and indignant.

SHE IS NOT a servant nor does her husband consider her as such. But she is a human being with the same moral obligation to earn her living which rests upon all other human beings and which has not been diminished nor altered by the fact that she has married.

Marriage is one way of earning a living. It is also other things—rare and beautiful things — but fundamentally it is a working partnership in which favors and obligations are equally divided. A woman does a man no greater favor when she marries him than he does her.

She wanted to marry him as he wanted to marry her or she wouldn't have done so. She gives no greater gift—she makes no greater sacrifice. Nor does she place him under personal obligation when she performs her housework.

She'd have to perform some kind of work, if she's a self-respecting citizen.

Housework is the business which she has elected to follow. It is a hard business, at times. It has periods of strain and anxiety. It also has periods of leisure and irresponsibility. On the whole, as a means of earning one's living, it is no better, no worse, than any other job.

AND IT IS a wife's duty to be as efficient in that job as in any other. Nor should she expect elaborate gratitude from her husband if she is efficient . . . nor get mad when he raises Cain when she isn't.

All of which is simple sense but try just to make the average bride believe it. For, unless she has had the romantic nonosense knocked out of her as a working girl, she still believes that ladies are loot and that gentlemen should pay largess for the pleasure of having them around.

If modern business does nothing else save teach females that they're people and as such, should pay their own way, it has done plenty for the human race. Nothing prepares a girl better for marriage than a few mean, male bosses.

And if the wife would work half as hard to please her husband and hold down her job as housekeeper as she does to propitiate a boss and keep a $20 a week job as filing clerk, matrimony would become one of our best instead of one of our worst risks.
